

GOP Agrees Upon 30 Millions Slash In State Budget

Party Conference Develops Alternative to Lehman Tax Plan; Cigarettes, Income Taxes Touched

Republicans Defer Sales Tax Proposal for Study by Committee

Albany, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—The Legislature's Republican majority, continuing study of a sales tax for relief, agreed almost unanimously to slash $30,506,810 from Governor Lehman's $415,000,000 budget and scrap his proposed taxes on real estate and business.

In a general party conference, Republicans voted nearly solid support for a party-drafted alternative to the Democratic chief executive's $66,000,000 tax program, which included:

A two-cents-a-package tax on cigarettes—$22,500,000.

A state personal income tax on salaries of federal employees—$1,500,000.

Liquor Tax Retention
The program also would retain the governor's proposed 30 per cent increase in the existing $1-a-gallon tax on hard liquor, estimated to yield $9,333,000. In addition, Lehman suggested a $1-a-$1,000 valuation tax on real property and a two-tenths of one per cent levy on gross business turnover.

Republicans put over for study by a committee a proposed sales tax designed only for financing relief, as well as several suggested changes in the state's taxing policies.

With adoption of the program virtually assured, Republican leaders said the budget probably would be reported to the Assembly today.

Drafting of the cigarette tax bill and amendment of Governor Lehman's pending "liquor tax" measure to make the effective date May 1 instead of June 1 will start immediately.

A bill for state taxing of federal salaries, authorized by a recent United States Supreme court decision, is already before the Legislature.

Early Morning Agreement
Agreement on the major phases of the Republican financial program was reached in the early morning hours after a four-hour conference of the party's rank and file, Republican Assemblyman Abbot Low Moffat, a leader in the 10-week task of formulating the plan, announced unanimous approval of the budget reduction and tax proposals by Republicans in the Senate, controlled by the party 27 to 24, and said "About four" Republican assemblymen "wanted to withhold their decision." Republicans have 85 members in the Assembly to 64 Democrats and one American Laborite.

Democratic Senator Jeremiah F. Twomey, former chairman of the powerful Senate finance committee, predicted minority opposition to a proposed $1,364,140 cut in the appropriation for the department of mental hygiene.

He asserted Democrats "have always taken care" of mental and physical defects and declared "we will oppose any such cut."

Approximate Surplus
Estimating the budget pruning, affecting chiefly highway and state aid, would result in an approximate surplus of $2,750,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1940, Republicans said the new taxes were designed to clear the $33,000,000 deficit which Governor Lehman predicted for July 1, 1939. He said the deficit would result from reduced revenues and increased unemployment cost.

Termining the relief problem "acute" in many communities, Republican leaders laid the sales tax proposal before party legislators.

Nine-Year-Old Rumanian Boy Strikes Man Thought to Be Foreign Agent

Bucharest, Rumania, April 18 (AP)—A nine-year-old boy wielding a pitchfork killed a man in a woman's clothes who, police said today, may have been a spy.

The boy, officers said, was driving a wagon near Brasov when the man sprang to the seat and began whipping the horses, saying he was in a hurry.

The boy struck with the fork and the stranger slipped from the wagon and was killed.

Police said they found considerable money, plans of a machine-gun factory in the neighborhood and designs of several new models of Rumanian guns in pockets of the man's dress.

Rochester Chosen For First of U. S. Stamp Plan Trials

Secretary Wallace Reports Surpluses Will Be Given to Relief Recipients Under New Plan

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Secretary Wallace announced today Rochester, N. Y., had been chosen as the first of six cities in which the agriculture department would try its new food stamp plan for distributing surpluses through regular grocery stores.

Actual operation of the plan is expected to begin, he said, within 30 days. The plan is voluntary on the part of relief recipients.

The other experimental cities will be announced later.

Under the plan, relief families may exchange a part of their pay or grants for stamps which they may use in purchasing food products through normal trade channels. The stamps will be redeemed by the government.

Two Variations
Under the present method of operation, surplus food products are distributed to needy families through regular relief agencies.

Two variations of the food stamp plan, both of which are voluntary, will be tried at Rochester.

Under one, WPA workers may request that an amount equal to between $1 and $1.50 a week for each member of the family be deducted from their wages. Such workers will receive orange stamps good for the purchase of any food in an amount equal to that which they asked be deducted.

Will Get Blue Stamps
In addition, such workers will receive free of charge blue stamps, representing 50 per cent of the value of orange stamps issued to them. The blue stamps will be good only for the purchase of foods designated by the agriculture department as surplus.

The other plan authorizes the sale of orange stamps to persons receiving general relief, old age assistance, aid to dependent children and aid to the blind. Such persons may buy orange stamps valued at a minimum of $1 or a maximum of $1.50 per week per person.

With every dollar purchase of orange stamps they will receive free 50 cents in blue stamps.

While the surplus food products, for which blue stamps, will be used, have not yet been officially designated, the list is expected to include butter, grapefruit, oranges, dried fruits, beans and eggs. Fresh vegetables might be added as they come into surplus later during the season.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The position of the Treasury April 15: Receipts $8,864,750.88; expenditures $22,714,994.25; net balance $3,171,432.933.38, including $2,510,710,363.07 working balance; customs receipts for the month $13,214,328.16. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1) $4,523,133,551.83; expenditures $7,188,131,265.91 including $2,465,531,676.85 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures $2,664,997,714.08; gross debt $40,043,345,122.51, an increase of $1,105,620.28 above the previous day; gold assets $15,505,510,712.50.

Britain's Pledge of Help Withheld Pending Talks With Soviet; Daladier Reports

Seven Decrees

Le Brun Signs Edicts, One of Which Gives France Arms Control

(By The Associated Press)

Prime Minister Chamberlain told a cheering House of Commons today that Great Britain welcomed "with great satisfaction" President Roosevelt's appeal to Cancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini.

In a brief statement on foreign affairs, the prime minister said Britain was continuing conversations with Soviet Russia to widen the British-French peace front but added he had nothing new to report.

A British pledge of help to Turkey had been expected, but was believed held up pending the outcome of the British-Soviet negotiations.

Seven Decrees
Premier Daladier at a meeting of the French cabinet was reported to have announced that negotiations to get Soviet Russia into the alliance were "progressing satisfactorily." Seven decrees were signed by President Lebrun, one establishing government control over the supply of French arms, munitions and other war material.

It appeared to many that Europe was in for a period of waiting—until Chancellor Hitler of Germany replies to President Roosevelt's appeal for a 10-year non-aggression agreement at a session of the Reichstag April 28.

The British Parliament went to Premier Mussolini of Italy and his Milan newspaper declared today that it had been rejected by the "Italian national conscience."

Teleky at Rome
Rome was entertaining the Hungarian premier, Count Paul Teleky, and his foreign minister today. They came on a visit of state, the result of which may be closer Hungarian ties with the Rome-Berlin axis.

While the British-French and the Rome-Berlin opposites endeavored to line up their adherents, the German fleet sailed for maneuvers off the Spanish coast—resuming a practice disrupted by the Spanish civil war.

The British warplane was convening today after the Easter recess, which had been broken for one day last week by the special session in which Chamberlain announced guarantees to Greece and Rumania—making the anti-aggression bloc one of five nations (Britain, France, Poland, Greece and Rumania).

Troops Returning
Gibraltar, April 18 (AP)—Large contingents of Spanish troops were reported returning today to La Linea, just across the frontier from Gibraltar, after attending Spanish war victory parades in other cities. Cavalry regiments arrived at San Roque and Algeciras.

New York, April 18 (AP)—Two-and-a-half year old Harold Holt, Jr., of Monongahela, Pa., is a new question mark in medicine's fight on one of the inscrutable forms of cancer.

The question is whether he will be an example of hope for conquering one of cancer's incurable forms, known as Wilms' tumor.

Hardly more than a month ago he had this cancer in lungs, liver and his one remaining kidney. He was discharged from a Pittsburgh hospital with the probability of living two weeks.

Today there is no cancer to be found in any of his organs, and he has been discharged from another hospital, apparently with years to live.

But how many years is not known. Whether the cancer will come back is not known. There are chances it may not recur, and then medicine hopes it will know better what to do in other cases.

In both hospitals Harold received the same treatment, X-rays. In the second institution, the New Rochelle Hospital near here, he received virtually the same kind of X-rays as before.

But different technique was used. This means mainly a difference in the sharp-shooting with the rays. They destroy any tissue, and the problem is to destroy cancer without damaging too much healthy tissue. The X-rays are slow bullets, their effects are not immediate, and consequently medical experts are constantly developing more skill in "shooting" them.

Wilms' tumor, named for a German who first described this form of cancer, has its origin in a growth known as teratoma, which is in the body at birth.

Sooner or later this cancerous tissue begins to grow. In medical history there are less than a dozen cases reported as cured. X-rays have recently reduced the growth. But almost invariably it has struck again, sometimes after appearing to wait five years. The cures were made by surgery after X-rays had reduced the cancer to operable limits.

The New Rochelle Hospital is hoping that X-rays alone will cure. Its technique has some good results.

The best one is another baby who was discharged in June three years ago, after the rays had removed all signs of Wilms' tumor. This child still is apparently free from recurrence.

In two years more the case can be rated as a "five-year-cure." After that come 10-year and 15-year cures and so on. Harold Holt has his little feet on the first rung.

When enough five, 10 and 15-year cures are on record medicine will accept this form as curable. By the same tedious process numerous other forms of cancer already have been put on the curable list.

Aged West Shokan Woman Dies Suddenly After Leaving Truck

Coroner McHugh Gives a Verdict of Accidental Death; Facts Are Not Fully Established

Mrs. Addie Breithaupt, 74, of West Shokan, died suddenly this morning at the home of her niece, Mrs. George Bush, on Lucas avenue extension, shortly after she had alighted from a truck driven by her husband, John Breithaupt, 64, coal and ice dealer.

A verdict of accidental death was given by Coroner Jesse McHugh, and it is believed that the aged woman was seized with a sudden attack, possibly due to a defective heart.

Coroner's Investigation
The coroner's investigation showed that Mrs. Breithaupt received a broken thigh, a fractured ankle and two broken ribs. These injuries, it is believed, were caused when she fell somehow against the truck, although it appeared not to be definitely established whether or not the injuries were subsequent to the attack.

Mrs. Breithaupt, the authorities reported, had driven her wife to the home of Mrs. Bush, prior to making a trip to the office of a local ice company.

Mrs. Bush, who witnessed the accident from near her house, according to the authorities, said that Mr. Breithaupt's truck, coming from the direction of Hurley, pulled over to the left side of the road and Mrs. Breithaupt alighted from the right side.

According to Mrs. Bush, the aged woman went around to the rear of the truck and then apparently changing her mind, started toward the front. Mr. Breithaupt, in the meantime, had the truck in motion and started off toward Kingston.

Saw Aunt Fall
Mrs. Bush saw her aunt fall to the ground alongside the road, according to officers. She called to Mr. Breithaupt but he failed to hear her cries and drove on to Kingston. Later he was located at the Chevrolet Service Station, through the efforts of the police department and told of the death of his wife.

Dr. E. F. Sibley, who was called, found Mrs. Breithaupt was dead on his arrival and notified the sheriff's office. Sheriff Molyneux, with Deputy Sheriff Arthur Brown and Trooper Arthur Reilly immediately made an investigation and Coroner Jesse McHugh went to the scene.

Preliminary investigation disclosed no outward signs of injury except a slight bruise on the forehead, where Mrs. Breithaupt had fallen, face downward. Later examination of the truck showed no evidence that it had been struck. The coroner was informed that Mrs. Breithaupt had been subject to heart attacks, having narrowly escaped severe injury through a fall not long since, and apparently her death this morning was due to that cause.

The body was turned over to Undertaker Eugene Gormley of Phoenixia.

Partial Eclipse of Sun
New York, April 18 (AP)—A partial eclipse of the sun will be visible in the northern United States tomorrow forenoon. At no point will much more than half the sun be covered by the moon, so that dark glasses probably will be necessary to see the eclipse.

On the Pacific coast about half the sun will be covered by the moon, it is predicted. In New York one-fifth of the sun will be covered. The eclipse hours for eastern standard time are 11 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Chairman of NLRB Says Agency Treats Everyone Fairly

Madden Testifies Before Senate Labor Committee Hearings on Wagner Act Proposals

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Chairman J. Warren Madden of the National Labor Relations Board declared today that the agency was "dispensing justice with as much fairness and impartiality as are the more traditional courts."

Testifying at a Senate labor committee hearing on proposals to amend the Wagner Labor Act, Madden presented detailed figures in reply to charges that the board has been partial to employers or to the CIO as opposed to the AFL.

Opposes Some Changes
At the same time he opposed some of the amendments under consideration by the committee, sharply criticizing those presented by Senators Burke (D., Neb.) and Walsh (D., Mass.).

Madden told the committee that "our workers are learning to settle their rivalries at the ballot box and not on the picket line."

"Employers and employees are learning the art of living together within the framework of an industrial democracy in the same way that our citizens generally have learned the art of living together in a political democracy," Madden said.

"I cannot help thinking how much more serious the consequences of the division in the labor movement would have been had there not been the safety valve afforded by the election machinery set up by the board under the National Labor Relations Act."

Self-Justification
Contending that under the labor act many newly organized workers were enjoying "those civil liberties which organization often helps to secure," Madden said that if the labor act had "brought no other benefits than this rebirth of civil liberties it, still would have justified itself."

On the point of CIO favoritism, Madden cited board records showing the average time for handling CIO cases was in most types of cases longer than the time elapsing in disposition of AFL cases. The figures, he said, showed that AFL cases "are handled fully as expeditiously as are CIO."

94 Per cent Adjusted
With respect to cases between employers and employees, the board chairman said about 94 per cent were adjusted without formal hearing. Of these, he told the committee, 42 per cent were adjusted in favor of the employer while the remainder were settled on terms agreeable to both parties.

Madden contended amendments to the labor act proposed by Senator Burke, represented "the desires of extremists" who opposed the labor act.

No Opposition to Project Plans Heard at Public Hearing Last Evening at City Hall

Estimates May 1

Property Owners to Get Compensation for Sites Taken

First definite indication that Kingston's long awaited grade crossing project has gained needed state momentum, came with the announcement last night by Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman that $4,375,000 has been allocated by the Public Service Commission.

This was revealed by the mayor at a public hearing on the crossing proposal and he announced also the proposal to add six additional crossings to the 10 which previously had been listed for elimination.

P. S. C. Assurance
Assurance by the Public Service Commission that the sum had been allocated for the Kingston project, the Mayor explained, came while he and other local officials were in Albany conferring with highway department officials and members of the commission.

Tentative plans call for the elimination of crossings on the West Shore, the former Ulster & Delaware and the Wallkill Valley lines. The plan was on display at the hearing and was explained by City Engineer James G. Norton. Required legal steps were explained by Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin.

No Opposition Develops
No opposition to the tentative plan developed at the hearing, which led Mayor Heiselman to say that he assumed that every one approved of the plan in general. He said that the hearing was an unofficial one and had been held by him to afford the citizens of the city an opportunity to meet and discuss the plan that had been prepared.

In opening the meeting the mayor said that the hearing was held to obtain an expression of opinion from the citizens of Kingston. The city officials and the railroad engineering department had been working for some time on the tentative plan submitted. Work on the plan had been started with the resolution adopted by the Common Council several years ago calling for the elimination of crossings on the tracks in the city by depressing the tracks under the streets.

With Least Damage
In drafting the present plan an attempt had been made to eliminate the least possible damage to private property. However, where it would be necessary to take private property the owner would be compensated for any damage.

The plan had also been prepared with the idea of taking care of switching facilities for industrial plants along the railroad right of way. The plan, the mayor said, was tentative and subject to modification and change.

That was one of the reasons why the plan had been placed on public view for some time to afford every one interested the opportunity of studying them.

No Figures Ready
Mayor Heiselman said that no figures of the cost of the proposed plan were ready, but that the necessary figures were being collected and he expected that estimates would be ready by May 1 so that the estimate and plan could be submitted to the public service commission.

City Engineer Norton explained in some detail the plan as prepared, and said that the tracks would pass under Broadway at a depth, roughly speaking, of 24 feet.

Hull Considers Advisability of Mapping Antarctic Claims for Nation

Washington, April 18 (AP)—State department officials discussed today the advisability of trying to map lands in the antarctic claimed by American explorers during the last 100 years.

Secretary Hull arranged a conference with Lincoln Ellsworth, explorer. He previously has consulted Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, and one of these two men may be asked to lead the mapping expedition, if it is sent.

Mapping of the half million square miles would be a preliminary step to formal diplomatic claim to the land. Official said congressional approval would be necessary for such an expedition.

GOP Agrees Upon 30 Millions Slash In State Budget

Party Conference Develops Alternative to Lehman Tax Plan; Cigarettes, Incomes Touched

Sales Tax Study
Republicans Defer Sales Tax Proposal for Study by Committee

Albany, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—The Legislature's Republican majority, continuing study of a sales tax for relief, agreed almost unanimously to slash $30,506,810 from Governor Lehman's $415,000,000 budget and scrap his proposed taxes on real estate and business.

In a general party conference, Republicans voted nearly solid support for a party-drafted alternative to the Democratic chief executive's $66,000,000 tax program, which included:

A two-cent-a-package tax on cigarettes—$2,500,000.
A state personal income tax on salaries of federal employees—$1,500,000.

Liquor Tax Retention
The program also would retain the governor's proposed 50 per cent increase in the existing $1-a-gallon tax on hard liquor, estimated to yield $9,333,000. In addition, Lehman suggested a $1-a-$1,000 valuation tax on real property and a two-tenths of one per cent levy on gross business turnover.

Republicans put over for study by a committee a proposed sales tax designed only for financing relief, as well as several suggested changes in the state's taxing policies.

With adoption of the program virtually assured, Republican leaders said the budget probably would be reported to the Assembly today.

Drafting of the cigarette tax bill and amendment of Governor Lehman's pending "liquor tax" measure to make the effective date May 1 instead of June 1 will start immediately.

A bill for state taxing of federal salaries, authorized by a recent United States Supreme court decision, is already before the Legislature.

Early Morning Agreement

Agreement on the major phases of the Republican financial program was reached in the early morning hours after a four-hour conference of the party's rank and file. Republican Assemblyman Abbot Low Moffat, a leader in the 10-week task of formulating the plan, announced unanimous approval of the budget reduction and tax proposals by Republicans in the Senate, controlled by the party, 27 to 24, and said "About four" Republican assemblymen "wanted to withhold their decision." Republicans have 85 members in the Assembly to 64 Democrats and one American-Laborite.

Democratic Senator Jeremiah F. Twomey, former chairman of the powerful Senate finance committee, predicted minority opposition to a proposed $1,564,140 cut in the appropriation for the department of mental hygiene.

He asserted Democrats "have always taken care" of mental and physical defects and declared "we will oppose any such cut."

Approximate Surplus

Estimating the budget pruning, affecting chiefly highway and state aid, would result in an approximate surplus of $2,750,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1940. Republicans said the new taxes were designed to clear the $33,000,000 deficit which Governor Lehman predicted for July 1, 1939. He said the deficit would result from reduced revenues and increased unemployment cost.

Terminating the relief problem "acute" in many communities, Republican leaders laid the sales tax proposal before party legislators.

Secretary Wallace Reports Surpluses Will Be Given to Relief Recipients Under New Plan

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Secretary Wallace announced today Rochester, N. Y., had been chosen as the first of six cities in which the agriculture department would try its new food stamp plan for distributing surpluses through regular grocery stores.

Actual operation of the plan is expected to begin, he said, within 30 days. The plan is voluntary on the part of relief recipients.

The other experimental cities will be announced later.

Under the plan, relief families may exchange a part of their pay or grants for stamps which they may use in purchasing food products through normal trade channels. The stamps will be redeemed by the government.

Two Variations

Under the present method of operation, surplus food products are distributed to needy families through regular relief agencies.

Two variations of the food stamp plan, both of which are voluntary, will be tried at Rochester.

Under one, WPA workers may request that an amount equal to between $1 and $1.50 a week for each member of the family be deducted from their wages. Such workers will receive orange stamps good for the purchase of any food in amount equal to that which they asked be deducted.

Will Get Blue Stamps

In addition, such workers will receive free of charge blue stamps, representing 50 per cent of the value of orange stamps issued to them. The blue stamps will be good only for the purchase of foods designated by the agriculture department as surplus.

The other plan authorizes the sale of orange stamps to persons receiving general relief, old age assistance, aid to dependent children and aid to the blind. Such persons may buy orange stamps valued at a minimum of $1 or a maximum of $1.50 per week per person. With every dollar purchase of orange stamps they will receive free 50 cents in blue stamps.

Negro Is Said to Have Cut Sister-in-Law, 19, with Razor; Awaits Action of Grand Jury

Lewis Tate, 43, a negro, of 10 Martin's Lane, was arrested shortly before 1 o'clock this morning on Greenkill avenue on a charge of assault in the second degree in slashing his sister-in-law, Miss Beatrice Gatewood, 19, with a razor, inflicting wounds on the face and head that required 27 stitches to close at the Kingston Hospital, where she was taken by Officers Hess and Urban Healey in one of the radio cars.

Later in the morning Tate was arraigned before Judge Matthew T. Cahill in police court, when he waived examination and was held to await the action of the grand jury. Judge Cahill informed him that bail would be fixed by the county judge.

Conflicting Stories

Conflicting stories of the slashing were told by Tate and his sister-in-law. Tate's story was to the effect that he returned home from work about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon and found his estranged wife and their two young daughters in the house. He has been making his home with his mother-in-law on Martin's Lane, since he and his wife had parted. She and the daughters reside in Paterson, N. J.

Tate said that a "party was thrown" for his wife, and that gin and whiskey formed a major part of the refreshments. Later in the evening his wife left for Paterson, leaving the two young daughters with her mother.

Says She Was Noisy
Tate claimed he did not indulge in the liquid refreshments and shortly after 11 o'clock decided to go to bed. He claimed that his sister-in-law was still noisy and he urged her to become quiet, and then an argument followed.

The negro claimed that during the argument his sister-in-law hurled the empty whiskey bottle at him, striking him in the forehead. Then it was, according to the police, that Tate used the razor.

After the slashing, Tate disappeared. According to the police he said he had gone over toward (Continued on Page Seven)

Harold Holt Becomes New Question Mark In Medicine's Fight Upon Cancer Forms

New York, April 18 (AP)—Two-and-a-half year old Harold Holt, Jr., of Monongahela, Pa., is a new question mark in medicine's fight on one of the inscrutable forms of cancer.

The question is whether he will be an example of hope for conquering one of cancer's incurable forms, known as Wilms' tumor.

Hardly more than a month ago he had this cancer in lungs, liver and his one remaining kidney. He was discharged from a Pittsburgh hospital with the probability of living two weeks.

Today there is no cancer to be found in any of his organs, and he has been discharged from another hospital, apparently with years to live.

But how many years is not known. Whether the cancer will come back is not known. There are chances it may not recur, and then medicine hopes it will know better what to do in other cases.

Coroner McHugh Gives a Verdict of Accidental Death; Facts Are Not Fully Established

Mrs. Addie Breithaupt, 74, of West Shokan, died suddenly this morning at the home of her niece, Mrs. George Bush, on Lucas avenue extension, shortly after she had alighted from a truck driven by her husband, John Breithaupt, 64, coal and ice dealer.

A verdict of accidental death was given by Coroner Jesse McHugh, and it is believed that the aged woman was seized with a sudden attack, possibly due to a defective heart.

Coroner's Investigation

The coroner's investigation showed that Mrs. Breithaupt received a broken thigh, a fractured ankle and two broken ribs. These injuries, it is believed, were caused when she fell somehow against the truck, although it appeared not to be definitely established whether or not the injuries were subsequent to the attack.

Mrs. Breithaupt, the authorities report, had driven her wife to the home of Mrs. Bush, prior to making a trip to the office of a local ice company.

Mrs. Bush, who witnessed the accident from near her house, according to the authorities, said that Mr. Breithaupt's truck, coming from the direction of Hurley, pulled over to the left side of the road and Mrs. Breithaupt alighted from the right side.

According to Mrs. Bush, the aged woman went around to the rear of the truck and then apparently changing her mind, started toward the front. Mr. Breithaupt, in the meantime, had the truck in motion and started off toward Kingston.

Saw Aunt Fall

Mrs. Bush saw her aunt fall to the ground alongside the road, according to officers. She called to Mr. Breithaupt but he failed to hear her cries and drove on to Kingston. Later he was located at the Chevrolet Service Station, through the efforts of the police department and told of the death of his wife.

Dr. E. F. Sibley, who was called, found Mrs. Breithaupt dead on his arrival and notified the sheriff's office. Sheriff Molyneux, with Deputy Sheriff Arthur Brown and Trooper Arthur Reilly immediately made an investigation and Coroner Jesse McHugh went to the scene.

No Outward Signs

Preliminary investigation disclosed no outward signs of injury except a slight bruise on the forehead, where Mrs. Breithaupt had fallen, face downward. Later examination of the truck showed no evidence that it had been struck.

The coroner was informed that Mrs. Breithaupt had been subject to heart attacks, having narrowly escaped severe injury through a fall not long since, and apparently her death this morning was due to that cause.

The body was turned over to Undertaker Eugene Gormley of Phoenixia.

Partial Eclipse of Sun

New York, April 18 (AP)—A partial eclipse of the sun will be visible in the northern United States tomorrow forenoon. At no point will much more than half the sun be covered by the moon, so that dark glasses probably will be necessary to see the eclipse. On the Pacific coast about half the sun will be covered by the moon, it is predicted. In New York one-fifth of the sun will be covered. The eclipse hours for eastern standard time are 11 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Two Men Qualify

Albany, April 18 (Special)—The State Department, division of licenses, announces that William Brissa of Stone Ridge, Ulster county, is among those who have passed the recent examinations conducted for real estate salesmen's licenses. Also listed as qualified for a salesman's license is Oscar S. Jansen, 130 Bona Ventura avenue, Wallkill. The examinations were conducted in Poughkeepsie on March 31.

Got Vote Anyway

Marion, Ill., April 18 (AP)—For 10 years Achilles Karathanos has had a faithful supporter for the presidency of the Marion township high school board. He received the vote at every election although he was never a candidate. Then townspeople suggested Karathanos probably was voting for himself. So he stayed away from the polls last time—and got the vote anyway.

He's 'Mr. Justice'

William O. Douglas' hand trembled as he read the oath which made him the youngest addition to the Supreme Court of the United States in more than 100 years. But he doesn't look nervous in this picture showing him in his new robes after the swearing-in ceremony in Washington.

Chairman of NLRB Says Agency Treats Everyone Fairly

Madden Testifies Before Senate Labor Committee Hearings on Wagner Act Proposals

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Chairman J. Warren Madden of the National Labor Relations Board declared today that the agency was "dispensing justice with as much fairness and impartiality as are the more traditional courts."

Testifying at a Senate labor committee hearing on proposals to amend the Wagner Labor Act, Madden presented detailed figures in reply to charges that the board has been partial to employers or to the CIO as opposed to the AFL.

Opposes Some Changes

At the same time he opposed some of the amendments under consideration by the committee, sharply criticizing those presented by Senators Burke (D, Neb.) and Walsh (D, Mass.).

Madden told the committee that "our workers are learning to settle their rivalries at the ballot box and not on the picket line."

"Employers and employees are learning the art of living together within the framework of an industrial democracy in the same way that our citizens generally have learned the art of living together in a political democracy," Madden said.

"I cannot help thinking how much more serious the consequences of the division in the labor movement would have been had there not been the safety valve afforded by the election machinery set up by the board under the National Labor Relations Act."

Self-Justification

Contending that under the labor act many newly organized workers were enjoying "those civil liberties which organization often helps to secure," Madden said that if the labor act had "brought no other benefits than this rebirth of civil liberties it still would have justified itself."

On the point of CIO favoritism, Madden cited board records showing the average time for handling CIO cases was in most types of cases longer than the time elapsed in disposition of AFL cases. The figures, he said, showed that AFL cases "are handled fully as expeditiously as are CIO."

94 Per Cent Adjusted

With respect to cases between employers and employees, the board chairman said about 94 per cent were adjusted without formal hearing. Of these, he told the committee, 42 per cent were adjusted in favor of the employer while the remainder were settled on terms agreeable to both parties.

Madden contended amendments to the labor act proposed by Senator Burke, represented "the desires of extremists" who opposed (Continued on Page Seven)

No Opposition to Project Plans Heard at Public Hearing Last Evening at City Hall

Estimates May 1

Property Owners to Get Compensation for Sites Taken

First definite indication that Kingston's long awaited grade crossing project has gained needed state momentum, came with the announcement last night by Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman that $4,375,500 has been allocated by the Public Service Commission.

This was revealed by the mayor at a public hearing on the crossing proposal and he announced also the proposal to add six additional crossings to the 10 which previously had been listed for elimination.

P. S. C. Assurance

Assurance by the Public Service Commission that the sum had been allocated for the Kingston project, the Mayor explained, came while he and other local officials were in Albany conferring with highway department officials and members of the commission.

Tentative plans call for the elimination of crossings on the West Shore, the former Ulster & Delaware and the Walkkill Valley lines. The plan was on display at the hearing and was explained by City Engineer James G. Norton. Required legal steps were explained by Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin.

No Opposition Develops

No opposition to the tentative plan developed at the hearing, which led Mayor Heiselman to say that he assumed that every one approved of the plan in general. He said that the hearing was an unofficial one and had been held by him to afford the citizens of the city an opportunity to meet and discuss the plan that had been prepared.

In opening the meeting the mayor said that the hearing was held to obtain an expression of opinion from the citizens of Kingston. The city officials and the railroad engineering department had been working for some time on the tentative plan submitted. Work on the plan had been started with the resolution adopted by the Common Council several years ago calling for the elimination of all grade crossings in the city by depressing the tracks under the streets.

With Least Damage

In drafting the present plan an attempt had been made to eliminate the least possible damage to private property. However, where it would be necessary to take private property the owner would be compensated for any damage.

The plan had also been prepared with the idea of taking care of swamping facilities for industrial plants along the railroad right of way. The plan, the mayor said, was tentative and subject to modification and change.

That was one of the reasons why the plan had been placed on public view for some time to afford every one interested the opportunity of studying them.

No Figures Ready

Mayor Heiselman said that no figures of the cost of the proposed plan were ready, but that the necessary figures were being collected and he expected that estimates would be ready by May 1 so that the estimate and plan could be submitted to the public service commission.

City Engineer Norton explained in some detail the plan as prepared, and said that the tracks would pass under Broadway to a depth, roughly speaking, of 24 feet.

Would Map Lands

Hull Considers Advisability of Mapping Antarctic Claims for Nation

Washington, April 18 (AP)—State department officials discussed today the advisability of trying to map lands in the antarctic claimed by American explorers during the last 100 years.

Secretary Hull arranged a conference with Lincoln Ellsworth, explorer. He previously has consulted Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, and one of these two men may be asked to lead the mapping expedition, if it is sent. Mapping of the half million square miles would be a preliminary step to formal diplomatic claim to the land. Officials said congressional approval would be necessary for such an expedition.

Killing Is Captured

Shanghai, April 18 (AP)—Killing of a famous missionary summer resort in the mountains near Kiukiang, fell into the hands of Japanese today. The occupation, Japanese said, was accompanied by little violence, as 2,500 Chinese defenders escaped through Japanese lines. Reports concerning the colony of foreigners were lacking in details but it was believed all were safe.

Compass Crackup

Lake Charles, La., April 18 (AP)—A J. Zappa was driving north on South street at the same moment Foster Henderson drove his car west on East street. The cars collided. None was hurt.

Fire on Farm
The Port Ewen fire department responded to a call from the Mollie Black farm on Route 9-W at 5:50 o'clock this morning where a door on the milk shed had caught fire from a wood stove. Part of the milk shed was used as sleeping quarters by one of the farm hands. The damage was slight.

Business and Commercial

New York, April 18 (AP)—In the most listless session of the year, the stock market today extended its declining trend by fractions to more than two points.

With the ticker tape lifeless for minutes at a time, transfers for the five hours were at the rate of approximately 500,000 shares. Recovery signs were scarce near the final hour.

Speculative forces inclined to step carefully pending the next move on the European check-board and the convening of the German Reichstag on April 28 to hear Hitler's reply to President Roosevelt's peace proposals.

Business news, while far from depressing, failed to provide outstanding buying stimulation.

London, Paris and Amsterdam markets were quiet and relatively steady. U. S. government securities edged within the vicinity of their recent highs. Corporate bonds were mixed, along with major commodities.

The share list moved within a small fractional range until around mid-day when a brief selling flurry gave leaders a downward push. Then the slow-motion proceedings were resumed.

On the losing side were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Westinghouse, Du Pont, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, C. Penney, Anaconda and Texas Corp.

Resistant were Glenn Martin, American Telephone, Standard Oil of N. J. and Pennsylvania Railroad.

Business Here in First Quarter Far In Excess of 1938

Despite the presumed "liberal" make-up of the U. S. Supreme Court at present decisions handed down Monday indicate that it cannot be depended upon to endorse everything advocated by the New Deal bloc. The latter received a blow when the court by a 5 to 2 decision upheld the standing rule of "fair value" in the determination of property accounts entering into utility rate-making as opposed to the New Deal advocacy of "original cost."

Another far-reaching decision Monday was that which declared in effect that orders of all Federal agencies, such as the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Power Commission, are subject to court review. There was one New Deal victory, however, when the court, again 5 to 2, approved the constitutionality of the 1938 tobacco marketing quota act. This is the latest New Deal measure which seeks to check the production of agricultural products.

The Central Railway is asking bids for 1,000 freight cars and 25 locomotives, the business having an approximate value of $5,000,000, or more. Bids have been requested from makers in other countries as well as in the United States.

That business in the U. S. for the first three months of this year was largely in excess of that for the first quarter of 1938 is shown by the fact that aggregate net earnings of the 452 corporations to report totaled $2,969,270, against $2,786,592 year ago, a rise of 6.23 per cent. Among reports of first quarter earnings are: Monsanto Chemical, $1,239,899 (before subsidiary preferred dividends and minority interest), vs. $669,311 in 1938 quarter. (Harbison-Walker Refractories, $207,500 vs. $142,000. Acme Steel, $329,671 vs. $1,044,500. Johns-Manville, net of $125,118 vs. net loss year ago of $239,475. Caterpillar Tractor, $928,118 vs. $807,907.

International Paper Co., which had net of $9,134,701, or $2.47 a share in 1937, reports net of only $1,074,075 in 1938. Standard Oil of California reports net in 1938 of $2,875,653, or $2.20 a share vs. net in 1937 of $1,254,778, or $3.15 a share. Cities Service had net last year of $5,814,515, vs. 1937 net of $9,615,714.

First quarter report of U. S. Steel, due in about a week, is not expected to show earnings sufficient for $1.75 preferred dividends. May even be below the $1.22 earned in the final period of 1938.

Following early weakness in London stocks opened lower in New York Monday, industrials being 2.69 points below Saturday's close. They lost still further ground, then moved slightly higher, but showed loss of 2.27 points at the close, to 127.34.

The Dow-Jones averages. Rails had net loss for the day of 0.47 point, to 25.68 and utilities were off 0.51 point, to 22.18. Total transactions were down to 520,000 shares, lowest since March 29.

Commodities generally were easier, although the Dow-Jones index showed a slight gain. Cotton futures were up three to 15 points in the New York market.

Wheat closed up to 5-8 cents a bushel higher in Chicago and corn advanced one half cent. Domestic sugar futures closed unchanged to three points higher. Fresh butter, 92 score, sold at 22 1/2 cents a pound in Chicago.

Compiling 1939 City Directory
Price & Lee, publishers of the Kingston city directory for a number of years, announced today that this year it has been decided to inaugurate the distribution of a free booklet containing the usual classified section printed in the directory each year. The classified section, as usual, also will appear in yellow leaves in the directory.

Kingston is the first city in which this has been inaugurated, said a representative of the publishing company today. He said that the booklets will be distributed free to each house in the city.

By means of this booklet householders will be able to find classified the names of every mercantile and business concern in the city.

Work of canvassing the city for the names to be listed in the 1939 directory already has been started by a crew of trained men.

The booklet will be bound between heavy covers and will contain more than 100 pages.

Stone Ridge Hit and Run Case Hearing Adjourned

Paul Nicholas Tokarow, Accord youth, arrested after he had left the scene of an accident near the intersection of Route 209 and the High Falls road Saturday night, was arraigned before Justice J. D. Sahler at Stone Ridge Monday night. Because of the inability of Mrs. Mary Short, who was a passenger in the truck allegedly struck by Tokarow's car, to be present because of injuries, Justice Sahler adjourned the hearing to Thursday at 7 p. m. and Tokarow was returned to the Ulster county jail.

It is charged that Tokarow ran into the rear of a truck driven by Roy Osterhoudt, of Kingston, RD 3, and afterward started walking down the road, being picked up by Deputy Sheriff Clayton Vredenburg some distance from the scene.

Runaway Boys Returned To School in Berkshires

Two boys, who ran away from the Berkshire Industrial School at Canaan Saturday night, were picked up along the Saugerties road Monday afternoon by Troop 11, and returned to the school. They were David Eisenberg of Farmingdale, L. I., and Raymond McGee of 229 East 25th street, New York city, both 14 years of age. The boys had been sleeping in barns since they left the school and had not had any too much to eat.

Two other boys who left the school at the same time were picked up earlier in the day by a trooper at Catskill.

Held For Intoxication

John Dingle of Highland, arrested Monday by Sergeant Huise on a charge of public intoxication, was held at the county jail over night, pending arraignment today before Justice U. Parker Decker of Highland.

Stunt Man Makes Study Of Errors of Drivers

CLEVELAND.—Al Durante, stunt driver whose business is head-on collisions, believes that automobiles are safe—that only the drivers and careless driving are responsible for accidents.

Poise in All Things, at All Times, Is Important

Lord Northcliffe, the famous British newspaper publisher, began to earn his living before he was 20, and by the time he was 30 he was a millionaire and the foremost newspaper publisher in England. Yet he regretted all his life that he had not gone to college, relates a writer in The Neighbor Magazine.

One day he explained this complex to Tom Clarke, author of My Northcliffe Diary. "I have all the money and all the social position I want," said Northcliffe. "Social position is nothing to me, and never was. Titles don't appeal to me. You are a young man; don't worry about those things. The important thing is poise. How a man handles a situation is a much more important thing than the situation itself. Poise in all things and at all times—so few men have it."

"I have suffered from my disability throughout my career. You cannot know how much. I suffer from the fact that I was not at Oxford. I can never outlive it."

"You have a son? Send him to a good college—to the best college. Not necessarily for three years or more. That may be too long. One year may be enough. It is a great asset. It means a lot to a man. It gives him in his impressionable years the foundation of poise among his fellow-creatures, which can be got nowhere else."

Physician's Oath Is One Of Great Many Promises

The Physician's Oath by Hippocrates is as follows:

"I swear by Apollo Physician, by Asclepius, by Health, by Panacea, and by all the gods and goddesses, making them my witnesses, that I will carry out, according to my ability and judgment, this oath and this indenture. To hold my teacher in this art equal to my own parents; to make him partner in my livelihood; when he is in need of money, to share mine with him; to consider his family as my own brothers, and to teach them this art, if they want to learn it, without fee or indenture. I will use treatment to help the sick according to my ability and judgment, but never with a view to injury and wrong doing. I will keep pure and holy both my life and my art. In whatsoever houses I enter, I will enter to help the sick, and I will abstain from all intentional wrong doing and harm. And whatsoever I shall see or hear in the course of my profession in my intercourse with men, if it be what should not be published abroad, I will never divulge, holding such things to be holy secrets. Now if I carry out this oath, and break it not, may I gain forever reputation among all men for my life and for my art; but if I transgress it and forswear myself, may the opposite befall me."

Quaalagh, Old British Festival

Quaalagh is seldom heard of in England, but is one of the oldest English festivals. It is observed in parts of the Isle of Man, where customs similar to "first-shooting" in Scotland are kept up. Men go from house to house singing special festival songs and are invited in for a bite and a drink. Always, dark men go first. But there are one or two customs in connection with Quaalagh which are observed nowhere else. Before midnight the floor of the kitchen is swept, always starting at the door and sweeping to the hearth, otherwise good luck will be swept out. Before retiring, the ashes are taken from the fire and smothered over the hearth with a pair of tongs, and in the morning the housewife looks eagerly at the ashes for tracks of a human foot. If there is one and the toes point to the door, it means death for some in the house; if the footprint is reversed, it means birth of a child.

Both Knew Business

A professional beggar once showed how to the millionaire seated in his office. "But this won't do," said the wealthy one, "you can't disturb me this way. See my secretary, all out a blank, it will be investigated and in due course of time you will hear from me." "Mr. —," replied the beggar, "all this is very well, and you may know your own business—but credit me with this—I also know my own business. I am here—what will you do for me?"

Fibers Available for Fabrics
The fibers available for the weaving of fabrics fall into the two groups of natural and artificial, says Industrial and Engineering Chemistry. In the former are cotton, wool, silk, flax, and the like; in the latter, rayon, artificial wool, glass, wool, and others. Of the natural fibers, cotton is easily king, its annual production being three times that of all others combined, and the United States grows approximately half of the world's total.

Given 60 Days
John R. Manning, 43, who gave his address as California, was arrested at Ellenville Monday by Officer Archibald Freer on a charge of malicious mischief. He was arraigned before Justice Charles F. Kaiser, who sentenced him to spend 60 days in the Ulster county jail. Manning admitted to the booking officer that he had been arrested some 15 or 20 times.

YMCA Fund Drive Plans Advanced

The Y.M.C.A. "Business Boosters Budget Campaign" held annually to raise funds for the continuance of the association program will open on April 25. The campaign this year is set up on a boost business plan. The organization will be divided into four divisions of workers. The first meeting of the entire organization of workers will be held at 7:30 o'clock on April 19, when the prospect cards will be distributed to the workers.

Division I, to be known as the Producers, will be in charge of R. H. Broughton and W. W. Brady, Jr. Under them will be 28 workers. Division II, called the Manufacturers, will be headed by E. G. Boessneck, Jr. He will be assisted by H. L. Winters, E. V. K. Schutt, and Raymond Garraghan. This division will have 26 workers. The secretarial aid to both of these divisions will be Charles A. Henke, physical director of the "Y."

Thomas V. Rowland, assisted by Stanley J. Matthews and Howard St. John will have charge of Division III known as the Wholesalers. It will be 25 workers to complete the division. For the second year, Division IV, the Retailers, will be composed of women members of the "Y." Mrs. C. A. Thiel and Mrs. C. S. Treawell will act as co-chairmen of the division and will have 27 workers under them. These two divisions will be assisted by Ellis T. Bookwalter, Boys' Secretary of the "Y" staff.

The complete personnel of the women's division, which was the first division organization to be completed, will consist of six teams. Miss Mayme Hutton will captain Mesdames Julian Gifford, John Form and Miss Edna Britt. Mesdames DeWitt Wells, R. H. Broughton, W. H. Brady and John Phillips will be captained by Mrs. Clara Dunlop. Mrs. John Wilson will have charge of Miss Margaret Treadwell, Mrs. Samuel Scudder and Mrs. Evelyn Moore. Mrs. Ellis T. Bookwalter will have under her Mrs. Charles King, Mrs. Edward Luedtke and Mrs. Irene Compton.

On the team of Mrs. Clarence Dumm will be Mrs. Fred Merritt, Mrs. Hamilton Boyd and Mrs. George Anderson. Mrs. C. F. Wenderly will be assisted by Mrs. H. C. Foster, Mrs. R. B. Becker and Miss Jessie Allen.

The goals of this year's campaign will be 1,200 subscriptions and $12,120. If the results of the efforts of the Initial Gifts Committee serve as an indication, there should be no difficulty in attaining the goals. Their subscriptions to date, are running ahead of last year.

Baptist Church Men's Club Names Officers for Year

The Men's Club of the Wurts Street Baptist Church named officers for the year at a meeting Monday evening.

George Parsells, was replaced as president by Lewis Myers. Other officers named were James C. Legg, vice president; Walter Kirchofer, secretary, and Ferdinand Vogt, treasurer.

A program was outlined for the year and a vote of thanks extended to the retiring officers. A social time followed the business meeting and ice cream, made by Dewey Bundy, was served.

Our Growing Population

The following births have been reported to the Board of Health: Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Dittmar of Rosendale, a son, Henry James, Jr., in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles F. Furman of Washingtonville, a daughter, Judy Kay, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Port of 29 Jarrold street, a son, Ronald Henry, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Pieper of 576 Broadway, a daughter, Gail Patricia, in Benedictine Hospital.

Rainy Weather Here Slows Street Work

Rain again today halted the work of patching the streets of the city. The cold, rainy weather of the past week has slowed up the street rebuilding program considerably, it was stated today at the office of the public works board in the city hall.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
Exhibit "A"

Pittsburgh—John Vavasky, 24, tossed a size 11½ shoe on Magistrate Anthony Lucas' bench in traffic court when called to account for an auto smashup.
"My big foot got stuck between the gas pedal and the gear shift," he explained. "While I was trying to get it loose, the car swung to the left."
"That is the most ridiculous story I ever heard," replied the magistrate, looking at the shoe. He fined Vavasky $10 for reckless driving.

Valuable Penny

Florence, S. C.—Fifteen-year-old Mary Jo Cockfield's mother gave her three pennies to put in the Sunday School collection.
But the teacher turned one of them back, telling her it was no good.
After hard polishing, the mother Mrs. T. V. Cockfield, discovered the penny was a $250 gold piece.

All in the Family

Santa Fe, N. M.—"Are you guilty?" asked Magistrate Lorenzo Gutierrez.
"Yes, your honor," replied Rosie

Gutierrez, accused of parking in a prohibited zone.
"One dollar, please," said the magistrate and reached into his pocket to pay his daughter's fine.

Minstrel to Have Final Rehearsal

A dress rehearsal will be held this evening at the Holy Cross Parish Hall on Pine Grove avenue at 8 o'clock for the minstrel show to be given by the Craftsmen's Club tomorrow and Thursday evenings. The curtain will rise at 8:15 o'clock each evening.

Mix some crushed pine apple with the rhubarb in your next pie. You will like the delicate flavor blend.

DOES HER HEART BELONG TO DADDY?

Linda Ware, (above) 13-year-old singing movie star, who was born Beverly Jane Stillwagon and reared in an orphanage near Steubenville, O., now is the ward of an aunt. But her father, George Stillwagon (also above) a Detroit steel worker, isn't satisfied with the arrangement and has filed suit to recover custody of the child.

Will Portray Washington

Denys Wortman, artist and cartoonist, has been selected to portray George Washington in the re-enactment of Washington's trip from Mount Vernon to New York 150 years ago for his inauguration, being sponsored by the New York World's Fair at the opening day on April 30. Mr. Wortman, a son of the late Rev. Dennis Wortman, for 18 years pastor of the Reformed Dutch Church in Saugerties, was born in that village.

$70,000 Is Held In Local Banks

Albany, April 18.—(Special)—State funds totalling $70,000 were on deposit in Kingston banks on March 31, according to figures released here by State Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine in the current issue of the New York State Bulletin, official publication of the department of state.

Fire on Farm The Port Ewen fire department responded to a call from the Mollie Black farm on Route 9-W at 5:50 o'clock this morning where a door on the milk shed had caught fire from a wood stove. Part of the milk shed was used as sleeping quarters by one of the farm hands. The damage was slight.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 18 (AP).—In the most listless session of the year, the stock market today extended its declining trend by fractions to more than two points.

With the ticker tape lifeless for minutes at a time, transfers for the five hours were at the rate of approximately 500,000 shares. Recovery signs were scarce near the final hour.

Speculative forces inclined to step carefully pending the next move on the European checkerboard and the convening of the German Reichstag on April 28 to hear Hitler's reply to President Roosevelt's peace proposals.

Business news, while far from depressing, failed to provide outstanding buying stimulation.

London, Paris and Amsterdam markets were quiet and relatively steady. U. S. government securities edged within the vicinity of recent highs. Corporate bonds mixed, along with major commodities.

The share list moved within a small fractional range until around mid-day when a brief sell-off flurry gave leaders a downward push. Then the slow-motion proceedings were resumed.

On the losing side were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Westinghouse, du Pont, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, J. C. Penney, Anaconda and Texas.

Resistant were Glenn Martin, American Telephone, Standard Oil of N. J. and Pennsylvania Railroad.

First quarter report of U. S. Steel, due in about a week, is not expected to show earnings sufficient for $1.75 preferred dividends. May even be below the $1.22 earned in the final period of 1938.

No. 1 steel scrap yesterday sold at $13.50 in Buffalo, a drop of 50 cents a ton.

Following early weakness in London stocks opened lower in New York Monday, industrials being 2.69 points below Saturday's closing. They lost still further ground, but showed less of a drop at the close, to 127.34 in the Dow-Jones averages. Rails held to 25.65 and utilities were off 0.51 point, to 22.18. Total transactions were down to 520,000 shares, low since March 29.

Commodities generally were easier, although the Dow-Jones index showed a slight gain. Cotton futures were up three to 15 cents in the New York market. Wheat closed up to 5-8 cents a bushel higher in Chicago and corn advanced one half cent. Domestic sugar futures closed unchanged to three points higher. Fresh egg butter, 92 score, sold at 22 1/2 cents a pound in Chicago.

Business Here in First Quarter Far In Excess of 1938

Despite the presumed "liberal" make-up of the U. S. Supreme Court at present decisions handed down Monday indicate that it cannot be depended upon to endorse everything advocated by the New Deal bloc. The latter received a blow when the court by a 6 to 2 decision upheld its long-standing rule of "fair value" in the determination of property accounts entering into utility rate-making as opposed to the New Deal advocacy of "original cost."

Another far-reaching decision in effect that orders of all U. S. agencies, such as the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Power Commission, are subject to court review. There was one New Deal victory, however, when the court, again 6 to 2, approved the constitutionality of the 1938 tobacco marketing quota act. This is the latest New Deal measure which seeks to check the overproduction of agricultural products.

The Central Brazil Railway is asking bids for 1,000 freight cars and 25 locomotives, the business having an approximate value of $5,000,000, or more. Bids have been requested from makers in other countries as well as in the United States.

That business in the U. S. for the first three months of this year was largely in excess of that for the first quarter of 1938 is shown by the fact that aggregate net earnings of the first 45 corporations to report totaled $23,999,270 as against $14,786,592 year ago, a rise of 62.3 per cent. Among recent reports of first quarter earnings are: Monsanto Chemical, $1,239,899 (before subsidiary preferred dividends and minority interest), vs. $669,311 in 1938 quarter; Harrison-Walker Refractories, $207,400 vs. $142,500. Acme Steel, $339,871, or $1.04 a share vs. $89.9.

Cutler-Hammer, $288,329 (before federal income taxes), vs. net loss last year of $34,417. National Malleable and Steel Castings, $285,329, 59 cents a share, vs. net loss in 1938 quarter of $418,738.

National Gypsum, $190,198 vs. $112,175. Westinghouse Electric, $235,150 vs. $2,031,230. Johns-Manville, net of $125,118 vs. net loss year ago of $29,475. Caterpillar Tractor, $928,118 vs. $807,907.

International Paper Co., which had net of $9,344,701, or $2.47 a share in 1937, reports net of only $124,075 in 1938. Standard Oil of California reports net in 1938 of $28,875,653, or $2.20 a share vs. net in 1937 of $41,254,778, or $3.15 a share. Cities Service had net last year of $5,814,515, vs. 1937 net of $8,615,714.

Compiling 1939 City Directory Price & Lee, publishers of the Kingston city directory for a number of years, announced today that this year it has been decided to inaugurate the distribution of a free booklet containing the usual classified section printed in the directory each year. The classified section, as usual, also will appear in yellow leaves in the directory.

Kingston is the first city in which this has been inaugurated, said a representative of the publishing company today. He said that the booklets will be distributed free to each house in the city.

By means of this booklet householders will be able to find classified the names of every mercantile and business concern in the city.

Work of canvassing the city for the names to be listed in the 1939 directory already has been started by a crew of trained men.

The booklet will be bound between heavy covers and will contain more than 100 pages.

Stone Ridge Hit and Run Case Hearing Adjourned Paul Nicholas Tokarow, Accord, youth, arrested after he had left the scene of an accident near the intersection of Route 209 and the High Falls road Saturday night, was arraigned before Justice Louis D. Sahler at Stone Ridge Monday night. Because of the inability of Mrs. Mary Short, who was a passenger in the truck allegedly struck by Tokarow's car, to be present because of injuries, Justice Sahler adjourned the hearing to Thursday at 7 p. m. and Tokarow was returned to the Ulster county jail.

It is charged that Tokarow ran into the rear of a truck driven by Roy Osterhoudt of Kingston, R. D. 3, down the road, being picked up by Deputy Sheriff Clayton Vredenburg some distance from the scene.

Runaway Boys Returned To School in Berkshires Two boys, who ran away from the Berkshire Industrial School at Canaan Saturday night, were picked up along the Saugerties road Monday afternoon by Troop 1 or Arthur Reilly and brought to the Kingston court house, later being returned to the school. They were David Eisenburg of Farmingdale, L. I., and Raymond McGee of 229 East 25th street, New York city, both 14 years of age. The boys had been sleeping in barns since they left the school and had not had any too much to eat.

Two other boys who left the school at the same time were picked up earlier in the day by a trooper at Catskill.

Held For Intoxication John Dingle of Highland, arrested Monday by Sergeant Huise on a charge of public intoxication, was held at the county jail over night, pending arraignment today before Justice U. Parker Decker of Highland.

Stunt Man Makes Study Of Errors of Drivers CLEVELAND.—Al Durante, stunt driver whose business is head-on collisions, believes that automobiles are safe—that only the drivers and careless driving are responsible for accidents.

"If drivers would be alert constantly and keep their heads in emergencies," said Durante, "accidents would be cut 50 per cent."

Durante said one of the first restrictions he puts on his assistants is that they drive carefully in the streets.

"We know exactly what our cars will do in the show. It's all calculated mathematically," he said, "but in traffic, you can't predict the actions of the other fellow. You have to keep your eye on him constantly to avoid accidents."

Durante said that even in accidents, drivers who know how to handle their cars and to keep control of them often can come out without a scratch.

The Scotch-Irish The Scotch-Irish are chiefly of Scotch descent, though they came to this country from Ireland. In 1611 King James I began colonizing Ulster, a barren and neglected part of Ireland, with people from Scotland and the northern part of England. They began migrating to America about the year 1730, and at the outbreak of the Revolutionary war about one-sixth of the population of the colonies was Scotch-Irish.

Given 60 Days John R. Manning, 43, who gave his address as California, was arrested at Ellenville Monday by Officer Archibald Freer on a charge of malicious mischief. He was arraigned before Justice Charles F. Kaiser, who sentenced him to spend 60 days in the Ulster county jail. Manning admitted to the booking officer that he had been arrested some 15 or 20 times.

Poise in All Things, at All Times, Is Important

Lord Northcliffe, the famous British newspaper publisher, began to earn his living before he was 20, and by the time he was 30 he was a millionaire and the foremost newspaper publisher in England. Yet he regretted all his life that he had not gone to college, relates a writer in The Neighbor Magazine.

One day he explained this complex to Tom Clarke, author of My Northcliffe. "I have all the money and all the social position I want," said Northcliffe. "Social position is nothing to me, and never was. Titles don't appeal to me. You are a young man; don't worry about those things. The important thing is poise. How a man handles a situation is a much more important thing than the situation itself. Poise in all things and at all times—so few men have it."

"I have suffered from my disability throughout my career. You cannot

MAP SANITY

One of the minor results of the intense nationalism which has swept the world is the restoration of ancient names to cities which had been given modern names. There has also been a tendency to use commonly, and even to put on maps made in this country, the native spellings of European town names which we had previously Anglicized. Americans have twisted their tongues helplessly in an effort to pronounce them.
The United States Geographic Board now comes to the rescue. It suggests a policy which may accomplish the impossible by pleasing everybody. On European maps for Americans, it rules, it is correct to use "Vienna" and "Munich" and "Danube" instead of "Wien," "Muenchen" and "Donau," and all the rest. On letters going to foreign cities, it is courteous, though not required, to use the native spelling—provided we know it and can use it correctly.
As for returned travelers who love to show off by airing their knowledge of foreign place names, probably nothing can be done about them.
The English people don't seem to have the trouble we have got into about this matter. They mostly keep right on spelling and pronouncing foreign names just as they have done for centuries—and as we ourselves did before the World War made us self-conscious about it.

MEN AND ANIMALS

This is the week, April 17 to 23, which the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has designated national "Be Kind to Animals Week."
Celebrating throughout the country is hardly universal. Most Americans won't do anything about it, even if they happen to know of the occasion. Most Americans already are kind to the animals they own or come in contact with.
This year, however, more than 600 societies will conduct special drives in their communities to promote better treatment of animals in general by human beings, and better understanding of the needs of the animals and their value to mankind.
It isn't so much a matter of being kind as of treating animals with fairness and decency. Work animals or pets have certain fundamental rights which it is the responsibility of their owners to protect for them. Food and shelter and entire freedom from abuse and cruelty are some of those rights.
One of the cruelties against which the S.P.C.A. constantly works is that of abandoning pets no longer wanted, or going away on vacation and leaving pets to shift for themselves. It is surprising how many apparently normal persons do this thoughtless, cruel thing.

SWASTIKA OVER ANTARCTICA

There must still be some poetical adventure left in German souls, even under Nazi rule. Any other interpretation of Berlin's claim in Antarctica seems impossible. An area of 230,000 square miles of snow and ice, with not one human inhabitant and perhaps not even so much as a penguin colony, has been staked out from the air, marked with dropped flags and claimed for the Reich.
The fact that this same region was claimed by Norway last January, and has been designated on the map as Crown Princess Maerta Land, probably makes no practical difference. The Nazi government explains that no other country has "used it as a supporting point" and no other expedition has "surveyed it with equal thoroughness," so perhaps that settles it.
The German whaling industry in adjacent waters is important, and it may comfort the whaling crews in their labors to know that they have a theoretical right to go ashore there and make themselves at home, if they can climb over the ice barrier.
Anyway, Germany now has a colony again. And before we get too big a laugh out of that, we might take a world map and check up a few of the worthless bits of rock, ice, desert, etc., that we've collected ourselves in the last half-century.

MUSEUM SOUND EFFECTS

Realism in the American Museum of Natural History, in New York City, is to be improved by the addition of sound effects to some of the silent exhibits already there. Listeners will then be able to hear not only an occasional lion's roar, but also the background sounds of the African jungle. There will be folk dances and native music, plus the animal and bird calls of a region.

Later the museum authorities hope to add to their repertory authentic musical backgrounds for Mexican, Indian and other exhibits. There will be three fifteen-minute performances daily, which should allow plenty of undisturbed sight-seeing time for those who prefer quiet, as well as plenty of opportunity for others to hear the true sounds and calls of distant, unfamiliar places.

Earlier explorers carried guns and brought back stuffed animals. Explorers these days are just as likely to carry the finest cameras and most scientific sound-recording devices and to make moving pictures and "talkies" that convey a truer impression of the regions explored than anything they've brought back before.

League of Nations officials, it is reported, are discussing evacuation of their offices at Geneva in the event of European war. Why not move into the League of Nations Pavilion at the New York World's Fair?

This country now has enough gold to gold-plate every government building in Washington and every capitol building in the country. That would save a lot of paint.

The autocrats are surprised to find the other players holding so many aces and kings.

There's one good thing about That War Over There, anyway. Republicans and Democrats can mostly agree about it.

Britain didn't have to ask Mussolini what he was doing in Albania. Promoting civilization, of course.

Diplomacy, which used to be so polite, is getting down to short and ugly words which mean the same thing and save time.

Other famous exiles: Haile Selassie's lion and King Zog's two Albanian bears, now in the zoo at Rome.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

DRY FORM OF CATARRH

One of the most annoying and embarrassing ailments is what is called atrophic rhinitis or the dry form of catarrh. Crusts form inside the nose and back of throat, the odor from which is most disagreeable.
Formerly all that could be done for these cases was to use nose drops and some form of mouth wash or confection to help conceal the terrible odor.
A few years ago it was found that electricity in the form of ionization—heating water in a rubber bag which had been pushed into the nose—helped to put some life into the lining of the nose and helped get rid of the crusts. The use of the X-ray has also been reported as helping to relieve symptoms of this distressing ailment.
What may prove to be of greater help than any other known form of treatment is reported in Laryngoscope, St. Louis, by Dr. I. H. Blaisdell, Boston. The new treatment is by estrin—a hormone of the ovary—which has proved its usefulness in other organs. Estrin substances were first used in cases of atrophic rhinitis in the outpatient treatment of the Eye and Ear Infirmary, Boston, on August 1st, 1932. A series of sixty cases is presented, divided into two groups: Group 1 consists of patients with an onset of this third or dry form of catarrh before 20 years of age, and group 2 is made up of patients with onset of symptoms after 20 years of age. In the first group there was improvement—less odor and crusts—in 84 per cent, and improvement in all cases in group 2 (over 20 years of age).
While this would not be considered a large number of cases for some ailments, to obtain some improvement in 84 per cent in one group and improvement in all cases in the second group in such a stubborn ailment is very gratifying.
This substance, besides being a hormone—a gland substance which has stimulating powers on special organs or processes—is, Dr. Blaisdell states, if properly used, one of the greatest weapons for combating diseases and correcting improperly working body processes.
As atrophic rhinitis has been considered almost incurable, this new remedy—extract with stimulating powers—is well worthy of being tried by the large number of discouraged patients who suffer with this disease.

Roosevelt Proposal Is a Genuine Approach to a System of World Economic Cooperation Based on Moral Force

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1933)
Washington, April 18—If ever there was an opportune moment for the forces of peace throughout the world to join together in a plea to the governments of Germany and Italy, it is in the next ten days which must elapse before Herr Hitler answers before the German Reichstag the proposal of President Roosevelt.
Throughout the world the importance of the interval is recognized in many influential quarters and in many capitals, and it would not be surprising if in the interim the Pope at Rome were prevailed upon to lend the great weight of his position to the efforts initiated by the President of the United States.
If the Pope, while not necessarily entering into the details of the President's proposal, were to endorse the spirit of Mr. Roosevelt's undertaking and wish it well, such a move could not but have a profound influence in Italy and perhaps to some extent in Germany.
The United States government is maintaining an attitude of complete detachment from all endeavors which may be made in the direction mentioned, because the position taken here from the outset is that governments everywhere should express themselves or remain silent as they please without any suggestion or intimation from the American government. For the last thing the government here would wish to see is any artificial lining up of governments for or against the proposal.
The fact that a formal reply has been delayed for 10 days is in itself a gratifying event, because it emphasizes the serious nature of the American intervention and the great potentialities of moral force when spoken so plainly as in the President's message.
Too many things are at stake for a blunt reply or an impulsive action to be taken, for, while the form of the message or the plainness of the language might have been disconcerting to the Berlin and Rome governments, the truth is Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini might well think twice before rejecting the American proposal, which they are asked to note, is related as much to economic readjustment as it is to the idea of a truce against aggression.
So far as the cabled reports from Berlin and Rome are concerned, it is apparent the newspapers there have not grasped the meaning of the American offer. The Fascist and Nazi editors seem to think the proposal merely asks Germany and Italy whether they will assure the world against attack on the 31 countries listed. The President plainly said he would also ask Britain and France and the other countries to give similar assurances to Germany and Italy. It was not a trick question or one-sided query, but a bilateral proposal in every sense.
The American action is the culmination of events which have directly affected a treaty signed by the United States and all the principal nations of the world

HIGHLAND NEWS

Amend Hawking, Peddling Measure

Highland, April 17—At the meeting of the town board on April 7 there was an amendment to the ordinance regarding hawking and peddling within the limits of the Town of Lloyd. The ruling now is a license fee for one day only shall be $5. Any license other than for one day shall run to the first day of January next following and the fee shall be $100 unless application shall be made after October 1 when the fee shall be $50. On May 5 there will be a public hearing in the town hall before the Town Board at 8 o'clock in the evening when the petition shall be presented for permission for the New York Clipper Lines, Inc., to pass through the Town of Lloyd over highway 231.

Business Men Held Meeting

Highland, April 17—The regular meeting of the Business Men's Association was held Thursday evening in the town hall with the chairman, Charles L. DuBois presiding. In the absence of Elmer D. Randall, Miss Eliza Raymond acted as secretary. Miss Helen Wright, chairman of the committee of the Apple Blossom festival and Old Home Week, reported that her committee had met on two Monday evenings and so far the response had been favorable. Forty letters had been sent to organizations outside of Highland. George P. Muller was willing to change the dates on the banners to be placed along the highways. Richard Burton, president of the home company, said the firemen would cooperate in a block dance or card party. Members of the American Legion would assist in town decorations and several were willing to provide floats for the parade. Registrations would be again in the Big Apple. A. W. Lent suggested that as soon as replies came from the letters sent out that the committee appoint helpers in those communities. Russell Tubbs spoke for the Republican club and their willingness to assist. Aside from Mr. DuBois there were present Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thompson, Gordon E. Wilcox, Miss Wright, Walter Clark, County Commander, W. H. Maynard, Hobart Kurtz, A. W. Lent, Russell Tubbs, Charles Goerth, Mr. Kelly, George Gussalus, Miss Raymond. The date of the event all depends on the opening of the apple blossoms and some fruit growers put that as late as May 20.

Day Line Service Will Start May 20

All six of the Hudson River Day Line boats will begin service from Albany to New York city for the World's Fair beginning May 20. This will be the first since 1932 that all of the vessels will be commissioned.
The boats being renovated in dry-dock will begin service from Albany to New York and the World's Fair, according to Alfred V. S. Oloft, president of the line.
Hendrick Hudson, licensed by the government to carry 5252 persons; DeWitt Clinton, 4297; Robert Fulton, 3861; Alexander Hamilton, 3717; Peter Stuyvesant, 2783; and the Chauncey M. Depew, 940.
Reappearance of the DeWitt Clinton on the river after being off since 1932 indicates that the Hudson river traffic is expected to be heavy this summer. Mr. Oloft sees a record breaking season for the line because of the traffic to the fair.

There'll Be An Eclipse Of Sun Tomorrow But Only Californians Will Get Good View

By Howard W. Blakeslee
(Associated Press Science Editor)

New York—In California the color of the sunlight is likely to look slightly greenish around 8 a. m. on April 19 and the same thing will happen in Wisconsin about 10:30 a. m.

This will be about the only noticeable effect in the United States of an annular eclipse of the sun passing at those hours across Alaska and heading for the north pole.

An annular ring-shaped eclipse is one in which the edges of the sun appear all around the moon's face.

In the United States only a partial eclipse will be seen and only with dark glasses. In California half of the sun's diameter is to be obscured, but without glasses, it is unlikely that the moon's disc can be detected. The change in color of the sunlight, though, may be seen without glasses.

In Wisconsin two-fifths of the sun's diameter will be covered. Other predictions are Idaho three-fifths, Texas one-fifth, New York one-fifth, South Carolina seven per cent. The predicted hours of the partial eclipse are: Eastern standard, 11:00 a. m. to 1:00 p. m.; central standard, 9:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m.; Pacific standard 6:45 a. m. to 9:00 a. m.

Plaintiff Brings Testimony to End In Callanan Case

Testimony on behalf of the plaintiff, Peter J. Scheiber of South Rondout, was concluded Monday in county court. Andrew J. Cook for defendant, Callanan Road Improvement Company, moved for a dismissal of the complaint which was denied by Judge Traver and the defense then began introduction of testimony.

Plaintiff claims that his residence property at South Rondout was badly damaged by heavy charges of explosives used at the Mingo Hollow quarry of the company. He alleges that walls and foundations were cracked and the premises damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars and cities in particular three blasts which were fired in August and November of 1937 and March of 1938.

Considerable Expert Testimony There has been considerable expert testimony offered by John W. DeWitt, counsel for plaintiff who swore a large number of witnesses for the plaintiff, among them several property owners from the town of Esopus and adjacent sections who testified their property had been damaged by blasting operations and that walls had been cracked and their premises shaken by the blasts.

B. C. Cabbage of Albany, an explosive expert employed by the du Pont concern, was called by the defense. He supervised the placing of the three blasts which are cited as having done much damage. In his opinion he said there was bound to be a certain amount of vibration in any operation of this kind but he denied that the operations at the Mingo Hollow quarry had been heavy enough to do any damage to adjacent properties.

Not Sufficient Strength The charges set off in 1937 and 1938 he said were not of sufficient strength to do any considerable damage to the premises at South Rondout. He testified that he had made tests with a seismograph and found no evidence of vibration which would do appreciable damage.

On cross examination he admitted that a heavy charge of explosives would have a recoil like that of a gun held at the shoulder and this recoil would be transmitted through rock formation to points some distance away.

As to amounts of explosives used in the September 1937 blast he said about six and a half tons of explosive had been fired. In November of that year 10,300 pounds had been used and in the March 1938 blast nine and a half tons or 19,000 pounds of explosive had been used in the charges which were fired in deep drilled holes.

SHOW TRAIN WRECKED, THREE HURT

This pile of kindling wood was left after the Baltimore and Ohio freight train in the picture rammed a 12-car special show train at Hyattsville, Md. Three men were hurt, one seriously. The wreck was attributed to a faulty switch.

The action is being watched with great interest by many people since on the determination of this case will hinge other actions of property owners who claim damage. The action is being brought under the theory of negligence.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Exhibit "A"
Pittsburgh—John Vavasky, 24, tossed a size 11½ shoe on Magistrate Anthony Lucas' bench in traffic court when called to account for an auto smashup. "My big foot got stuck between the gas pedal and the gear shift," he explained. "While I was trying to get it loose, the car swung to the left."
"That is the most ridiculous story I've ever heard," replied the magistrate, looking at the shoe. He fined Vavasky $10 for reckless driving.

Valuable Penny
Florence, S. C.—Fifteen-year-old Mary Jo Cockfield's mother gave her three pennies to put in the Sunday School collection. But the teacher turned one of them back, telling her it was no good.
After hard polishing, the mother Mrs. T. V. Cockfield, discovered the penny was a $250 gold piece.

All in the Family
Santa Fe, N. M.—"Are you guilty?" asked Magistrate Lorenzo Gutierrez.
"Yes, your honor," replied Rosie

Gutierrez, accused of parking in a prohibited zone.
"One dollar, please," said the magistrate and reached into his pocket to pay his daughter's fine.

Minstrel to Have Final Rehearsal

A dress rehearsal will be held this evening at the Holy Cross Parish Hall on Pine Grove avenue at 8 o'clock for the minstrel show to be given by the Craftsman's Club tomorrow and Thursday evenings. The curtain will rise at 8:15 o'clock each evening.

Mix some crushed pine apple with the rhubarb in your next pie. You will like the delicate flavor blend.

DOES HER HEART BELONG TO DADDY?

Linda Ware, (above) 13-year-old singing movie star, who was born Beverly Jane Stillwagon and reared in an orphanage near Steubenville, O., now is the ward of an aunt. But her father, George Stillwagon (also above) a Detroit steel worker, isn't satisfied with the arrangement and has filed suit to recover custody of the child.

Will Portray Washington

Denys Wortman, artist and cartoonist, has been selected to portray George Washington in the re-enactment of Washington's trip from Mount Vernon to New York 150 years ago for his inauguration, being sponsored by the New York World's Fair at the opening day on April 30. Mr. Wortman, a son of the late Rev. Dennis Wortman, for 18 years pastor of the Reformed Dutch Church in Saugerties, was born in that village.

$70,000 Is Held In Local Banks

Albany, April 18.—(Special)—State funds totalling $70,000 were on deposit in Kingston banks on March 31, according to figures released here by State Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine in the current issue of the New York State Bulletin, official publication of the department of state.

Of this sum, $15,000 each was in Kingston Trust Company and National Ulster County Bank, while $40,000 was in the Rondout

National Bank.
The state's bank balance, on deposit March 31 in banks throughout the entire state, was $55,931,980.39, as compared with the February 28 balance of $77,419,840.65.
Deposits of state funds elsewhere in Ulster county on March 31, were:
First National Bank, Highland, $10,000; First National Bank, Marlborough, $15,000; First National Bank, Milton, $10,000; Huguenot National Bank, New Paltz, $40,000; First National Bank and Trust Co., Saugerties, $25,000; Saugerties Bank, Saugerties, $20,000.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters

Asy Mayo, Cape Cod sleuth.
Eloise, loquacious daughter of the murdered toman.

Yesterday Jane smacks Eloise in the mouth and breaks her false teeth, when Eloise insists Mike Slade is the murderer.

Chapter 38

The Breaking Point

"How fortunate," Eloise said in a moment or two, "I thought to bring them—several times I haven't, and really, it's most embarrassing—but how could one anticipate—after all, falling down, or dropping them, yes. Why, everybody has accidents. But one can't anticipate—a blow, I'm sure. But I do think it was fortunate I had another pair."

With that commentary, Eloise dismissed the situation. "It was unfortunate," Sara said, "but I know that none of us there will mention it. Jane has been terribly upset, and she's not demonstrative. I suppose everything's settling inside her, and it came out all at once. It's too bad she landed on you and proceeded to make you her safety valve—she's probably crying her eyes out somewhere, and wondering how she can apologize."

"Poor Jane!" Eloise said. "Of course her father—that ruined her life. I know—you couldn't call her mother anything but flighty. Just flighty. Mother warned me—of course mother understood Jane. But I couldn't help wishing—Zeb is such a nice boy. So nice-looking, and of course his family is beyond—but when I saw how things have been going lately, I just couldn't help suggesting—and I'm sure she'd have found it a very wise choice. Mother thought so, and we both hoped—but I suppose she knows her own mind."

"I'm afraid she does," Sara said. "Eloise nodded. "My own fault, I suppose—but I'm sure I didn't mean to plague her so that—really, not my, not I've just been trying to point out to her how Zeb—after all, that red man—and particularly now."

"I take it," Asy said, "you been suggestin' that there was a lot of sanity in hookin' Zeb, instead of botherin' with Slade, considerin' this situation?"

"Why, yes, of course. I'm sure I didn't mean to plague her till she—but one never knows, does one?" her voice trailed off.

"One doesn't, I'm sure—" Asy said. "It—oh, Sara, if I stay here any longer, I'll talk like that too. See to her, will you? I'll be back."

He could well understand how Jane might have been driven to the breaking point if Eloise had been pumping out a steady if disconnected stream of propaganda in favor of Zeb Chase, and apparently she had been doing just that. That accounted for Jane's spending the previous day with Zeb. Eloise had simply driven her into it.

Weston and Jeff were in the living room, busy over a batch of papers.

"Nice hunters you are," Asy said. "Where's Jane?"

Weston smiled. "Brimley found her. I didn't know he was such a lady killer. He found her under the trees, and brought her in, and she's crying on his shoulder in the dining room, and he seems to be handling her so well that Jeff and I decided to leave the affair to him. Asy, what's to be done? I'm going crazy and that's a fact!"

Asy shrugged. "About all we can do is wait an' hope, right now."

It Must Go Smoothly!

"I WORRY about tomorrow," Weston said. "It's town day, and tag day for our new hospital. I want it to go off. Friday is the historical day—that doesn't count much, and Saturday'll take care of itself, with the week-end crowd, and all. But tomorrow has simply got to go smoothly. Oh, I forgot. The state police head wanted you to call him. He didn't come with the governor, he came later and stayed only a few minutes. He said he'd call Lane. Asy, isn't there anything we can do to keep tomorrow from being spoiled?"

Asy sat down. "I don't think you need have any fears about tomorrow. Or tomorrow night. I got as much endurance as the next, but he done me up. He done Kay up. I sort of hope he'll rest tomorrow. Besides, he's done a number of things he ought to sit down and take stock of. On our side, we'll take stock, too. I'd say that Friday night, he ought to bounce back, bigger an' better than ever. By that time, maybe we can have hoped out what he was after at the hollow tonight. But, only aimin' to plant somethin' else."

"Plant something else?" "Yes, he's been plantin', but don't ask me to go into it now. Maybe if he'd keep on plantin', we might get some place. Honest, I can't move. I like to think of our friend somewhere, soakin' his feet in Epson salts. You know, someone's got to cut my shoes off, the way I feel. Tell Brimley to bring Jane in here, will you? An' you two go in the dinin' room." Jeff sighed as he got up. "You may feel that way, but Wes and I are feeling worse. Our adventures in that meadow—Sara hasn't had a chance to notice this suit yet. That's the real disadvantage of having a wife, they're so fussy about clean clothes. You and Wes, Asy, can hang your suits on the line when you want, and send them to the cleaners."

"Is that so?" Sara appeared in the doorway. "Jeff Leach, you march up this minute, and Weston, you run along and change, too. Neither of you can catch cold till after Sunday. Asy, before—I don't care if you do have to talk with Jane. Before you do another thing, you go upstairs and take those things off."

"Ma'am," Asy said, "I haven't anything to change into." "Yes, you have!" Sara said. "I phoned Syl's wife this evening, and told her to go to your house and get some clean clothes. Before she brings them over. Those corduroys and jacket and flannel shirt are all right for local color, but that's no reason why they should grow on you."

"I resent that," Asy said. "I been borrowin' Zeb's things, an' I ain't in no condition to grow anything."

"That's what you think. Don't you laugh, Weston, you're worse. Have you any clean flannels? Well, then, go up with Jeff and take those off, and put on some pants of his. I'll see them get cleaned before tomorrow. All of you, move!" They protested, but they went. Sara watched them go upstairs, and then marched into the dining room to interview J. Arthur.

"You're dazdly clean," she said, "but you go along home, before Bessie takes to worryin' and coming after you. Sometimes, I think men have no sense."

The Romance Of Beans

SHE saw him out the front door, and then returned to Jane. "Now as for you," she said, "you've indulged in enough self-pity. Go up and apologize to Eloise, and answer any questions Asy wants to ask you, and then go to bed. Eloise is irritating, I'll admit. She irritates me profoundly most of the time. But that doesn't in the least justify your actions or your words. In your way, you're quite as irritating, and you'd know it if you weren't so sure that you were the only pebble on the beach."

"Why, Aunt Sara!" "I mean it. You're so occupied with your problems, and your life, and your misfortunes, and particularly your misadventures—and your two beans, and your trials and your tribulations—for heaven's sakes, if you want Mike Slade, take him. He'll doubtless beat you daily, but he may beat in some sense."

"I—why—no one ever talked to me like that!"

"That's the trouble with you. Now you've heard the truth, run along."

Sara turned out the lights and walked briskly into the hallway.

"You've been very kind, Dr. Cummings," she said brightly.

"But now we're going to bed, Zeb, go to bed. You're to be at the store early. I heard you say so. Good night, doctor."

"Upon my word, Sara, you're certainly speeding the departing."

"Good night."

Sara closed the door behind him, turned the key and shot the bolt above, just as Asy came out of his room.

"Jeff will lock the door so I'll be restrained," she said. "Lord knows I've provoked to sleepwalk tonight! And now, good night to you. If you hear anyone, they're where they should be, in bed."

Asy was grinning when he went back to his room.

"Aunt Sara," he said, "is on the warpath. She's a great old mopper-upper!"

"She gave Jane here," Zeb said. "Did my heart good to listen."

"I'm sorry about this Jane business," Asy said. "I s'pose, now, your little flurry with the grocery business is all over an' done with?"

"Funny thing," Zeb said, "but I began because of Jane, really. Wanted a nice excuse to stay here, and she was sore at his listless heir. And now, y'know, I've got quite worked up over—well, Jane's one thing, but baked beans are another."

Asy agreed gravely that there was much truth in what he said.

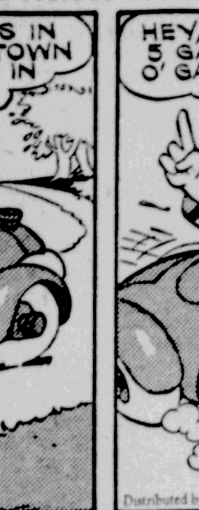

"You know," Zeb went on, "I think I'll buy a half interest in Matt's store. Great possibilities. And besides—well, there's a lot to beans. That sounds like dad, but it's true. I'm going to get into this end of the business first, and then I want to see what I can do with dad. You know, the family used to be in the spec' business—caravans and things. Now as I see the bean situation—"

He was still running on about the romance of the bean business when Asy fell asleep. Apparently Jane's stand in defense of Mike Slade hadn't begun to touch Zeb anywhere near as much as she or anyone else anticipated.

Continued tomorrow.

There is no blueprint for enthusiasm. Nor can you have loyalty by formula.

Lawyer—You know of course that your uncle mentioned you in his will! Nephew—To what extent? Lawyer—I'll tell you when the ladies leave the room.

If a young sprout wants to make an impression on a veteran business man he doesn't want to tell him his business needs new blood.

Mother—Janey, every time you are a naughty girl I get another gray hair. Janey—Then you must have been a terror when you were a kid. Just look at poor grandma.

An error the first time it occurs is usually a mistake, but a mistake that keeps on occurring is unquestionably an error.

Bunchuck—That woman sings with a great deal of feeling, it seems to me. Drudd—Well I hope she isn't feeling as bad as it sounds.

Heaven Some dream of streets of glistening pearl, an angel's voice that sings.

The melodies of yesteryear, to strains from gold harp strings. And others yearn for peace and quiet, a land of sweet repose, Eternal evening filled with calm, and restful sunset glows.

But when I think of heaven, dear, this prayer goes from my lips: "God, give me paradise I found, in just his finger tips." —Lyla Myers

The bad tempered child isn't easy to deal with but he manages to get along better than the cry baby who is always getting his feelings hurt.

Customer—I'd like a copy of that book, "Man, the Ruler." Sales—Girl—You'll have to go to the first floor, sir, we keep all fiction there.

There's a yarn going around about the mail order house which made a deal with a silversmith to furnish teaspoons at a very low price, by adding 50 per cent nickel. When the second order came, a still lower price was demanded. "Put in more nickel," the buyer suggested. A third order arrived, and a still lower price was sought. This went on for few more orders. Finally the manufacturer had a wire: Must have lower price. Add more nickel. To which the silversmith replied: Impossible. The last order was all nickel.

Warning:—A famous adage of mother's, we found on an attic shelf: You may hide your feelings from others, but you can't run away from yourself.

Wearily Husband—I've been to every shop in town, and they can't match this ribbon anywhere. Wife—Splendid. I just wanted to make sure no one else could buy it.

Coronation Ball Tickets Ready

Persons and organizations around the county who have taken membership tickets in the Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival to dispose of, are asked to make their returns at once to Secretary Albert Kurdt at the Farm Bureau office.

The committee is now preparing to send out tickets for the Queen's Ball to be held at the municipal auditorium on the night of May 6. All who have purchased membership tickets are entitled to tickets to the ball, but the ball tickets cannot be mailed until it is known who hold membership tickets.

Meanwhile Chairman Peter Keresman, of the ball committee, announces that Harry A. Shea of New York, who has furnished entertainment numbers for numerous affairs in Kingston, would provide the entertainment program for the Apple Blossom Ball. Mr. Keresman said that the program would include five or six professional acts, which would not include any of those seen here on other occasions. He has been assured by Mr. Shea that the show being provided for May 6 will "come up to your expectations." As previously announced music will be furnished by a ten-piece orchestra, made up of some of the best musicians in the city and headed by Jacob Mollott as conductor.

SIX SPECIALTY ACTS

Plans Completed For Home Bureau District Conclave

Members of the Ulster County Home Bureau Executive Committee met on Monday with state representatives in the Kingston office to plan a program for the Eastern District Federation of Home Bureaus to be held in Kingston on May 3 and 4.

Included in the program will be talk by Dr. Ruth Green Smith, state leader of home demonstration work from the state college, Ithaca, and a talk on cancer by Dr. Elizabeth Parsons of Kingston.

The delegates will stop at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Y.W.C.A. and tourists homes in Kingston.

On the evening of May 3 a banquet will be held in the hotel, with a program planned that will close with a number of dances by the Woodstock Chautauque and Swings square dance group.

The final day of the federation meeting will be spent in luncheon at Mt. Marion, attending a talk at the studio of Tomas Penning of High Woods, ending with tea and an art exhibition in the Woodstock Art Gallery.

Since the federation has a membership of nearly 300 the two-day convention is expected to be well attended and orderly plans have been made to arrange for transportation, accommodations and entertainment of a large group.

Tolerance Group Plans Meeting

A local movement to spread the spirit of tolerance, which gained momentum at a recent meeting of an interested group, will be furthered soon at a meeting of a recently named committee at the office of Cashin & Ewig.

It is one aim of the group to stem the tide of unfavorable propaganda against Jews in America. They will work also to expose religious and racial discrimination.

The committee is non-sectarian and will align itself against all forms of intolerance and counteract the insidious literature of propaganda now disseminated.

Those on the committee are: The Rev. Russell J. McVee, Rabbin Herbert I. Bloom, John M. Casin, Andrew J. Cook, Joseph M. Fowler, Arthur B. Ewig.

Executed as Spy

Nancy, Frazer, April 18 (AP).—A 26-year-old Frenchman, Francis Helmut Schumacher, died as a spy before a firing squad in the Maginot defense line facing Germany. He was arrested at the time of a September crisis, charged with obtaining military information for a foreign power, and was sentenced January 4 by a court martial of the 20th military.

Naked Distributor

The great Bull Markets, it was announced today, have been appointed exclusive distributors in this territory for Nestle's World Fair Medallions. The attractive medallions are large round pieces of chocolate covered with a heavy gold foil, and stamped with the three buildings and other Fair scenes. These distinctive souvenirs also will be on sale at the world's Fair.

Kiwanis to Hear Lithgow Osborne

Lithgow Osborne

The weekly meeting of Kingston Kiwanis Club, Thursday noon, will be a sort of "Ulster County Day," as representatives of some 30 organizations throughout the county are expected to be guests of the service club here on that day.

The occasion will be a visit by Conservation Commissioner Lithgow Osborne, who will be the guest speaker and who will address the subject of "State and Regional Publicity."

As head of the Conservation Department Mr. Osborne is also head of the State Publicity Bureau, which has been made a division of the department, and his talk Thursday will be on publicity lines.

Commissioner Osborne will outline some of the things that have been accomplished in publicizing the attractions of different areas or regions in the state and will also refer to some things that have been done on that line in other states.

President E. M. Huben, of the Kiwanis, said that they have endeavored to secure an attendance of representatives from all organizations in the city and county that are in any way connected with, or interested in promotional activities. It is felt that they will be given some valuable hints as to what their local bodies can do towards popularizing Ulster county, the thought being that what helps the county as a whole will help the various areas and communities of the county.

It is expected that during the course of his talk Commissioner Osborne will tell something of the outstanding work that has been done toward popularizing and advertising the Finger Lakes region of Central New York.

Chairman Says NLRB is Fair

"the original enactment of the law, who have never become reconciled to the liberties which it confers upon American workmen and who now urge Congress to take away those liberties."

He said that Burke's proposal "would make of working people and their unions a caste of legal pariahs and untouchables, outlawed by the federal government upon the slightest deviation from the requirements of the most reactionary or absurd village ordinance, or the terms of an injunction granted by any labor-baiting judge, local, state or federal."

"Serious Charges"
Madden also said that Burke "has made serious public charges against the administration of the act several times since (its passage) without any respectable evidence to sustain the charges, and has been generally unfriendly to the beneficent purposes of the law."

Madden said the AFL bill never would have been proposed had it not been for the split between the Federation and the CIO.

Group to Give Minstrel Show

A "Battle of the Sexes" and "Uncle Sam's Question Bee" will be two modern features of the third annual minstrel show of the Men's Club of the Fair Street Church which will be held at the church auditorium on Friday evening, April 21, at 8 o'clock. In addition there will be the usual minstrel show musical numbers, local "star" end men and solo and quartet numbers which will include local songsters of note.

William Murray will be interlocutor and the troupe is being coached by Harold Clayton. As usual ice cream and cake will be on sale.

Machine Winks, Sour Notes End

Blinking Gadget Warns Opera Singers When Out of Tune

NEW YORK.—A new machine that winks at prima donnas of the Metropolitan Opera company is making life easier for the orchestra. The winker, capable of 32 to 4,070 blinks a second, is a chromatic stroboscope, a new musical pitch meter, each of whose winks represent a single beat of a musical note.

The orchestra's tribulations come from the fact that in each pure musical note, whether of a soprano voice, or other musical source, there is a slight margin, a few vibrations, by which the tone can depart from standard and still be beautiful. This departure most commonly occurs in high-pitched feminine voices, thus when the singer is voicing the F above high C, represented by 1,397 vibrations a second, she may go as high as 1,425.

Orchestra Strains.
The result is that to the prima donna's ear the orchestra is off key, while to the players the singer seems off. Since the orchestra is the accompanist, it strains to follow the prima donna.

With the new winker, the singer can see the exact number of vibrations of her voice. The orchestra can see its tones and those that harmonize best can be practiced.

The winker counts the number of vibrations per second of a musical note. The counting is done by a stroboscope, a wheel with spokes, which whirls in front of the flashing light.

The spokes cast a jumble of shadows, which seem to stand still whenever the wheel is turning at the precise speed needed to cast as many shadows a second as there are flashes of the lamp.

Works for Any Note.

Thus the wheel can be set for any note. If it is set for 1,400 vibrations a second, the shadows will stand still when the singer's voice is making exactly 1,400 vibrations. If she goes above, the shadows will move.

The winker comes from Elkhart, Ind., where it was developed by C. G. Conn, Ltd., to tune wind instruments. It solved the problem of "lips that lie when liping."

"Lipping" is the blowing of a wind instrument. The lips help produce the perfect tone.

Woman Has New Process

For Steel Manufacture
CLEVELAND, OHIO.—Lena Burrows, who calls herself a "kitchen chemist," has spent 10 years in her laboratory, and claims now to have perfected a new process for producing steel, and a method of treating low grade ore to make it profitable.

"I have found a way to smelt iron ore into steel in one operation by using hydrogen as a reducing agent," she said, "and in this way eliminate the blast-furnace operation. This effects a saving of $3 per ton in the finished product."

By treating gold ore with the same apparatus, the woman scientist has been able to accomplish surprising results by reducing successfully and cheaply, ores which previously had been too low-grade to justify reduction.

"But the astonishing thing," she said, "is that the process seems to transmute some of the baser metals in the ore into gold."

Miss Burrows' father was a well-known metallurgist and geologist. It was from him that she learned chemistry.

There's Gold in Smoke; Ore Mills Will Catch It

COLORADO, COLO.—A smokestack sifter with a gunnysack could make $100 a day at the Golden Cycle mill.

Casual observers noticing the clouds of smoke pouring from smokestacks of the mining company's ore-processing mill here would find it hard to believe that those clouds of smoke are carrying a daily average of $100 in gold dust out of sight.

Golden Cycle engineers, who have been making a test of the gold content of the smoke, said dust-catchers would be installed soon on the smokestacks, stopping release of the valuable particles.

A similar situation was overcome recently in the melting room of the smelter, where several tons of gold-bearing escaping dust have been reclaimed.

Seismologist Says Blasts Not Heavy

who supervised the three blasts at the quarry in 1937 and 1938, testified that he had endeavored to make a record of the earth movement at the Schreiber place on March 18, 1938, but had not set up his instruments complete when the blast went off. Mr. Schreiber had delayed the operation by not desiring to give his consent. The instrument was set up on the walk just as the blast was fired and one of the pins fell, the pin being the one which would respond to the least tremor. Other pins did not fall.

Supervised Operation

He said he supervised the operation on November 18, 1937, when over five tons of explosive had displaced 42,000 tons of rock. He also loaded the blast for March 18, 1938, when 9½ tons were exploded. In his experience he had loaded 24 tons in a blast at South Bethlehem for the Callanan people and no damage had resulted. The rock at Mingo Hollow was about the same, slightly harder.

In reply to a question by the court the witness said smaller charges of dynamite would be less effective and would be more expensive. He said there would be less vibration to the surrounding territory but such operation would delay operations at the quarry. The larger charges was the more practical operation.

Barab Testifies

Jacob Barab of Wilmington, Del., who had fired the shot last Thursday at 5:05 in the afternoon, said he considered the two shots fired in holes 163 and 157 feet deep could do no damage. The shots displaced 30,000 tons of rock.

Experts said 20,000 to 30,000 pounds of explosive could be used in the quarry without damage to property.

G. Wallace Codwise testified the distance to the quarry from the Schreiber house was 4,300 feet.

Another explosive expert, Mr. Russell from Wilmington, Del., with dia Pont for 32 years said he had looked over the Mingo Hollow quarry in 1937 before it was opened. He said he had shot 30 to 40 tons of explosives within 1,500 feet of structures without damage. In his opinion the charge could not damage property in South Rondout.

Explains Vibrations

Prof. Leet explained how vibration waves travel over the surface of the earth in waves about 300 feet wide much as waves go in water. The waves are less, deep down in the earth. On each wave structures moved with the earth and little damage is done.

Although he said there was a tendency for walls to crack if sufficient energy was exerted and there was a tendency of structures such as chimneys to "fight against" the frame work of a house and give evidence of this by cracks or abrasions. He cited his experience in Japan in 1923 and of his investigation of explosive results in this country. He is author of a book on the matter.

Tunnels under ground move without damage with the earth shock, plaster on walls in houses on the surface may crack if the push and pull is sufficient but he said there would be two way cracks, one when the push comes and one when the pull results. In the Schreiber house there was no evidence of two lines of cracks and he said the damage was due to settling. This was true of the cellar bottom, the foundation wall and the plaster walls. It was expansion and contraction which caused the foundation to crack.

Last Thursday he said he sat upon the ground near his instrument when the blast was fired and he felt the tremor very distinctly but the earth moved about 1-100 of an inch and not sufficient to damage any structure. A movement of 40-100 of an inch would be required to damage new plaster and old plaster would stand more movement.

The case will be continued today. At noon recess A. J. Cook still was presenting his side of the case with John W. DeWitt cross-examining witnesses.

Jurors were excused until 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

By Lydia Gray Shaw

1. Pretty snappy outfit, isn't it? I think so myself. I'm pretty proud of my fuzzy sweater and my blue blanket. And my shiny new harness, too. Mother just got that for me 'cause I'm getting big enough to be frisky. She doesn't want me to fall out of the carriage, so she straps me to the sides. Says when I'm big enough to walk, she'll tie a lead rein to it, and let me totter down the street.

2. Here comes Mother now, ready to take me for my ride. We go out every day this time, when the sun is warm, and I can get a little sun tan. Mother gets her exercise pushing me down to the store, and I wait for her outside in the carriage in the sun. I've had sun baths since I was two weeks old. Just face and hands in the winter, but all over in the summer. That's why I'm so healthy and brown.

3. My, do I like to bounce along! The carriage is nice and springy, and even though I've grown fast, it's still big enough for me. I can lie down for my nap without having my toes crowded. Pretty soon though, I'll have to use the carriage just for sit-up rides. Mother doesn't want me to be cramped when I sleep. My, the air smells good. I'm certainly going to have a great big appetite when I get home.

16,000 Workers Busy At World's Fair Site

New York, April 18 (AP).—With the formal opening of the New York World's Fair only 12 days away, a staff of 16,000 workmen today was busy rushing the $155,000,000 enterprise toward completion.

The payroll for those employed on the 1,216-acre tract last week was reported above $900,000.

The statistical minions of Grover A. Whalen, the fair's president, estimated 25,000 persons would be employed next week in last-minute painting, landscaping, cleaning work and installation of exhibits.

They believed 50,000 will be employed by the fair's management, its exhibitors and concessionaires during the summer.

Most outdoor construction work has been completed except in the "play center," where more than 100 rides, shows, amusement projects and eating places are being set up at top speed.

"Bury You in Yard"

Richard Banks, 24, of 5 Dunne street, was arrested this morning on a boat in the Rondout creek on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Catherine Fox, an elderly woman. Mrs. Fox in the information she swore to at the time the warrant was issued alleged that late Sunday afternoon Banks had appeared at her house and kicked and banged on the front door, shouting "I'll kill you. I'll throw you through the building and bury you in the yard," and other language that was both indecent and profane.

When Banks was arraigned in police court he told the judge he wanted to retain a lawyer, and the judge adjourned the hearing until Wednesday morning and fixed bail in the sum of $200.

Peter Dugan, a house painter of this city, was fined $5 for intoxication on Abrun street, on Monday morning.

Driver Is Fined

John W. Boyce of Poughkeepsie, who was arrested Sunday night at Highland and charged with driving while intoxicated, was arraigned Monday before Justice U. Parker Decker of Highland. The charge against Boyce was changed to that of reckless driving and a fine of $5 was imposed. Boyce paid the fine and was discharged.

MAP SANITY

One of the minor results of the intense nationalism which has swept the world is the restoration of ancient names to cities which had been given modern names. There has also been a tendency to use commonly, and even to put on maps made in this country, the native spellings of European town names which we had previously Anglicized. Americans have twisted their tongues helplessly in an effort to pronounce them.

The United States Geographic Board now comes to the rescue. It suggests a policy which may accomplish the impossible by pleasing everybody. On European maps for Americans, it rules, it is correct to use "Vienna" and "Munich" and "Danube" instead of "Wien," "Muenchen" and "Donau," and all the rest. On letters going to foreign cities, it is courteous, though not required, to use the native spelling—provided we know it and can use it correctly.

As for returned travelers who love to show off by airing their knowledge of foreign place names, probably nothing can be done about them.

The English people don't seem to have the trouble we have got into about this matter. They mostly keep right on spelling and pronouncing foreign names just as they have done for centuries—and as we ourselves did before the World War made us self-conscious about it.

MEN AND ANIMALS

This is the week, April 17 to 23, which the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has designated national "Be Kind to Animals Week."

Celebrating throughout the country is hardly universal. Most Americans won't do anything about it, even if they happen to know of the occasion. Most Americans already are kind to the animals they own or come in contact with.

This year, however, more than 600 societies will conduct special drives in their communities to promote better treatment of animals in general by human beings, and better understanding of the needs of the animals and their value to mankind.

It isn't so much a matter of being kind as of treating animals with fairness and decency. Work animals or pets have certain fundamental rights which it is the responsibility of their owners to protect for them. Food and shelter and entire freedom from abuse and cruelty are some of those rights.

One of the cruelties against which the S.P.C.A. constantly works is that of abandoning pets no longer wanted, or going away on vacation and leaving pets to shift for themselves. It is surprising how many apparently normal persons do this thoughtless, cruel thing.

SWASTIKA OVER ANTARCTICA

There must still be some poetical adventure left in German souls, even under Nazi rule. Any other interpretation of Berlin's claim in Antarctica seems impossible. An area of 230,000 square miles of snow and ice, with not one human inhabitant and perhaps not even so much as a penguin colony, has been staked out from the air, marked with dropped flags and claimed for the Reich.

The fact that this same region was claimed by Norway last January, and has been designated on the map as Crown Princess Marita Land, probably makes no practical difference. The Nazi government explains that no other country has "used it as a supporting point" and no other expedition has "surveyed it with equal thoroughness," so perhaps that settles it.

The German whaling industry in adjacent waters is important, and it may comfort the whaling crews in their labors to know that they have a theoretical right to go ashore there and make themselves at home, if they can climb over the ice barrier.

Anyway, Germany now has a colony again. And before we get too big a laugh out of that, we might take a world map and check up a few of the worthless bits of rock, ice, desert, etc., that we've collected ourselves in the last half-century.

MUSEUM SOUND EFFECTS

Realism in the American Museum of Natural History, in New York City, is to be improved by the addition of sound effects to some of the silent exhibits already there. Listeners will then be able to hear not only an occasional lion's roar, but also the background sounds of the African jungle. There will be folk dances and native music, plus the animal and bird calls of a region.

Later the museum authorities hope to add to their repertory authentic musical backgrounds for Mexican, Indian and other exhibits. There will be three fifteen-minute performances daily, which should allow plenty of undisturbed sight-seeing time for those who prefer quiet, as well as plenty of opportunity for others to hear the true sounds and calls of distant, unfamiliar places.

Earlier explorers carried guns and brought back stuffed animals. Explorers these days are just as likely to carry the finest cameras and most scientific sound-recording devices and to make moving pictures and "talkies" that convey a truer impression of the regions explored than anything they've brought back before.

League of Nations officials, it is reported, are discussing evacuation of their offices at Geneva in the event of European war. Why not move into the League of Nations Pavilion at the New York World's Fair?

This country now has enough gold to gold-plate every government building in Washington and every capitol building in the country. That would save a lot of paint.

The autocrats are surprised to find the other players holding so many aces and kings.

There's one good thing about That War Over There, anyway. Republicans and Democrats can mostly agree about it.

Britain didn't have to ask Mussolini what he was doing in Albania. Promoting civilization, of course.

Diplomacy, which used to be so polite, is getting down to short and ugly words which mean the same thing and save time.

Other famous exiles: Haile Selassie's lion and King Zog's two Albanian bears, now in the zoo at Rome.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

DRY FORM OF CATARRH

One of the most annoying and embarrassing ailments is what is called atrophic rhinitis or the dry form of catarrh. Crusts form inside the nose and back of throat, the odor from which is most disagreeable.

Formerly all that could be done for these cases was to use nose drops and some form of mouth wash or confection to help conceal the terrible odor.

A few years ago it was found that electricity in the form of ionization— heating water in a rubber bag which had been pushed into the nose—helped to put some life into the lining of the nose and helped get rid of the crusts. The use of the X-ray has also been reported as helping to relieve symptoms of this distressing ailment.

What may prove to be of greater help than any other known form of treatment is reported in Laryngoscope, St. Louis, by Dr. J. L. Blaisdell, Boston. The new treatment is by means of a hormone of the ovary—which has proved its usefulness in other organs and tissues where stimulation was needed.

Estrin substances were first used in cases of atrophic rhinitis in the outpatient treatment of the Eye and Ear Infirmary, Boston, on August 1st, 1937. A series of sixty cases is presented, divided into two groups: Group 1 consists of patients with an onset of this third or dry form of catarrh before 20 years of age, and group 2 is made up of patients with onset of symptoms after 20 years of age. In the first group there was improvement—less odor and crusts—in 84 per cent, and improvement in all cases in group 2 (over 20 years of age).

While this would seem to be considered a large number of cases for some ailments, to obtain some improvement in 84 per cent in one group and improvement in all cases in the second group in such a stubborn ailment is very gratifying.

This substance, besides being a hormone—a gland substance which has stimulating powers on special organs or processes—is, Dr. Blaisdell states, if properly used, one of the greatest weapons for combating diseases and correcting improperly working body processes.

As atrophic rhinitis has been considered almost incurable, this new remedy—extract with stimulating powers—is well worthy of being tried by the large number of discouraged patients who suffer with this disease.

Amend Hawking, Peddling Measure

Highland, April 17.—At the meeting of the town board on April 7 there was an amendment to the ordinance regarding hawking and peddling within the limits of the Town of Lloyd. The ruling now is a license fee for one day only shall be $5. Any license other than for one day shall run to the first day of January next following and the fee shall be $100 unless application shall be made after October 1 when the fee shall be $50. On May 5 there will be a public hearing in the town hall before the Town Board at 8 o'clock in the evening when the petition shall be presented for permission for the New York Clipper Lines, Inc., to pass through the Town of Lloyd over highway 231.

Business Men Held Meeting

Highland, April 17.—The regular meeting of the Business Men's Association was held Thursday evening in the town hall with the chairman, Charles L. DuBois presiding. In the absence of Elmer D. Randall, Miss Eliza Raymond acted as secretary. Miss Helen Wright, chairman of the committee of the Apple Blossom festival and Old Home Week, reported that her committee had met on two Monday evenings and so far the response had been favorable. Forty letters had been sent to organizations outside of Highland. George P. Muller was willing to change the dates on the highways. Richard Burton, president of the home company, said the firemen would cooperate in a block dance or card party. Members of the American Legion would assist in town decorations and several were willing to provide floats for the parade. Registrations would be again in the Big Apple. A. W. Lent suggested that as soon as replies came from the letters sent out that the committee appoint helpers in those communities. Russell Tubbs spoke for the Republican club and their willingness to assist. Aside from Mr. DuBois, the following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thompson, Gordon E. Wilcox, Miss Wright, Commander Walter Clark, County Commander W. H. Maynard, Hubert Kurtz, A. W. Lent, Russell Tubbs, Charles Goerth, Mr. Kelly, George Gussalus, Miss Raymond. The date of the event all depends on the opening of the apple blossoms and some fruit growers put that as late as May 20.

Pool Winners Dine

Highland, April 17.—The winners in the recent pool tournament conducted at the hose house were treated to a chicken dinner Thursday evening in the hall of the Presbyterian Church. Roosevelt Proposal is a Genuine Approach to a System of World Economic Cooperation Based on Moral Force
By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1939)
Washington, April 18.—If ever there was an opportune moment for the forces of peace throughout the world to join together in a plea to the governments of Germany and Italy, it is in the next ten days which must elapse before Herr Hitler answers before the German Reichstag the proposal of President Roosevelt.

Throughout the world the importance of the interval is recognized in many influential quarters and in many capitals, and it would not be surprising if in the interim the Pope at Rome were prevailed upon to lend the great weight of his position to the efforts initiated by the President of the United States.

If the Pope, while not necessarily entering into the details of the President's proposal, were to endorse the spirit of Mr. Roosevelt's undertaking and wish it well, such a move could not but have a profound influence in Italy and perhaps to some extent in Germany.

The United States government is maintaining an attitude of complete detachment from all endeavors which may be made in the direction mentioned, because the position taken here from the outset is that governments everywhere should express themselves without any suggestion or intimidation from the American government. For the last thing the government here would wish to see is any artificial lining up of governments for or against the proposal.

The fact that a formal reply has been delayed for 10 days is in itself a gratifying event, because it emphasizes the serious nature of the American intervention and the great potentialities of moral force when spoken so plainly as in the President's message. Too many things are at stake for a blunt reply or an impulsive action to be taken, for while the form of the message or the plainness of the language might have been disconcerting to the Berlin and Rome governments, the truth is Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini might well think twice before rejecting the American proposal, which they are asked to note, is related as much to economic readjustment as it is to the idea of a truce against aggression.

So far as the so-called reports from Berlin and Rome are concerned, it is apparent the newspapers there have not grasped the meaning of the American offer. The Fascist and Nazi editors seem to think the proposal merely asks Germany and Italy whether they will assure the world against attack on the 31 countries listed. The President plainly said he would also ask Britain and France and the other countries to give similar assurances to Germany and Italy. It was not a trick question or one-sided query, but a bilateral proposal in every sense.

The American action is the culmination of events which have directly affected a treaty signed by the United States and all the principal nations of the world formally renouncing war as an instrument of national policy. This was known as the Kellogg-Brand pact. Use of force in recent months has seemed to make the Kellogg-Brand treaties a dead letter. Since the United States government—incidentally, under a Republican administration—promulgated and negotiated these treaties, it is America's concern now whether these treaties can be relied upon any more as a basis of intercourse with the world.

It is conceded here that the disturbances in Europe have grown out of economic maladjustments. Hence, any program that seeks peace must recognize that the United States, with its vast resources and supply of gold, can be of immense help in restoring economic stability. It is this angle of the President's proposal which may mean more to Germany and Italy than how to deal with the formal question of asking about aggression. For, if there is to be revision of the economic side, then the basic reason for reaching out to annex territory disappears.

Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini have a remarkable opportunity to gain for their peoples something which, up to now, it has not been deemed possible would be offered by the United States, because, ever since the war, the cause of international cooperation in economic matters has been growing less and less popular in America. It will be recalled that in 1933, President Roosevelt virtually terminated the world economic conference in London. Today, such a world conference would be attended by the United States and pushed to success by the President in every way possible, because events have changed since 1933 and the need for an international economy to help America's own employment situation is much better understood by the administration.

The world of today, also, might well be one of friendly cooperation with the President's proposal because of the economic factors. The United States has no desire to impede Japanese commercial development in the Far East, provided it is conducted on a basis fair to all foreign capital, something which is scarce nowadays in the orient and without which Japan can hardly expect to get any benefit from an after-the-war situation in China.

The press reports from Tokyo say a profound impression was made in Japan by the friendly gesture of the United States in sending a warship to carry the ashes of the late Japanese ambassador to Washington, Hiroshi Satou. There is every reason why America would wish to give Japan other manifestations of true friendship, and the President's proposal, while not addressed to understanding in the Far East and genuine economic cooperation between Japan and China and the United States. The Roosevelt proposal is far-reaching, because the more the other governments study it, the more they will perceive that this is a genuine approach to a system of world economic cooperation based on moral rather than physical force.

Day Line Service Will Start May 20

All six of the Hudson River Day Line boats will begin service from Albany to New York city for the World's Fair beginning May 20. This will be the first since 1932 that all of the vessels will be commissioned.

The boats being renovated in dry-dock will begin service from Albany to New York and the World's Fair, according to Alfred W. S. Olcott, president of the line.

Hendrick Hudson licensed by the government to carry 5,252 persons; DeWitt Clinton, 4,297; Robert Fulton, 3,861; Alexander Hamilton, 3,717; Peter Stuyvesant, 2,783; and the Chauncey M. Depew, 940. Reappearance of the DeWitt Clinton on the river after being off since 1932 indicates that the Hudson river traffic is expected to reach a new breaking season for the line because of the traffic to the fair.

Chinese Dancer
Aids Relief Fund

Si-Lan Chen, the daughter of the former Chinese foreign minister, Dr. Eugene Chen, gave a dance recital last evening in the auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. which was acclaimed as well worth seeing by those who attended.

A large audience was present for the program which benefited the Kingston China Aid Council. Although not ranking among the "tops" in modern dance, Si-Lan Chen proved an able student of the art and one who has been well trained in the field. Her gestures and body control were extremely good and her sweet personality and poise striking.

The dances were given the occasional interpretation, even in the two Chinese folk dances, Turk Dance and Uzbek Dance which were done in Chinese costume. The best of her group of numbers was "In Conquered Nanking."

Si-Lan Chen has devoted her entire time to an American tour, the proceeds of which, less expenses, she has given for medical and civilian aid to her countrymen.

During the intermission Mme. Chu Tong, Chinese social worker and educator, spoke. She told vividly of the Japanese encroachment and how it is endangering the peace of the United States. Mentioning ways to maintain the peace she mentioned an embargo on Japanese goods and urged the people to write their president and congressmen favoring the embargo. She also urged a boycott on Japanese goods and asked that people contribute toward the relief camps through the China Aid Council, or contribute toward the adoption and care of a Chinese child. The most urgent need, she said was medical aid, and painted a picture of the sufferings behind the lines.

Emil Koehler, a music student in New York city, accompanied Si-Lan Chen for the dancing. The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the First Reformed Church, was chairman of the meeting in the absence of Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck.

MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9053

There's a feeling in the air for complete ease and less formality . . . so button-front Pattern 9053 fits perfectly into the fashion-picture. It has two very attractive princess-flare versions, as you see . . . both particularly comfortable, easy to don, and simple to make and iron. Stitch up the plainer style in tie silk for day-after-day wear, and in cotton for "at-home" or camp wear. But, for the dressier version with lace at collar tips and sleeve edges, use a pastel synthetic crepe or flower-printed silk in a shade to flatter your complexion. Brisk little features you and everyone will like are the newly-smart pockets and the belt tying at the front.

Pattern 9053 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42. Size 16, 5½ yards 35 inch fabric.

Slip Off Extra Pounds
By Cutting Calories

"Now don't you dare look, Sarah!" cries Mrs. Stout, as the scale indicator goes up and up.

"Tut, tut," replies friend Sarah, "I used to be ashamed of my weight too. Till one fine day I learned to count my calories—and started to lose my bulges."

As Sarah knows, it isn't how much you eat but what you eat that matters, Mrs. Stout. Just think of last night's dinner! You had a hearty serving of breaded veal cutlet, 350 calories; a cup of scalloped potatoes, 160; a slice of chocolate pie, 400. In just 3 dishes, 910 fattening calories!

But easily you could substitute 3 tasty low-calory dishes and get just as much to eat. A good serving of roast veal is only 200 calories; I cup cole slaw with tasty dressing, 100 calories; ½ cup orange ice, 140 calories. A mere 440 calories in the lot!

And on a low-calory diet planned by an expert dietitian you get lots of fruits and vegetables, keep your system alkalinized and feel fit as a fiddle.

Lose weight sensibly, easily, without starving. You can slip off 2 pounds a week by following the program in our 32-page booklet.

Saves 42 delicious low-calory menus, calory chart, exercises, 3-day liquid diet to start reducing. Also menus for gaining.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Otto Schmid, vice president of the Paltz Club, acted in the place of the president, Edgar V. Beebe, who was out of town to attend the funeral of a brother. The secretary, Howard Crispell, being ill, D. V. Z. Bogert served in his place. Roeliff DuBois, who was responsible for the entertainment, presented S. McKeand Kevan as guest speaker. He began by describing his birthplace in Scotland, and of his arrival in the United States. Mr. Kevan also illustrated how it is possible for some one born in Europe to have a different viewpoint of the European situation from the usual American born citizen and many other interesting subjects. A great many members of the club disagreed with some of Mr. Kevan's statements. Many questions were hurled at Mr. Kevan and active participation resulted from these questions. The club decided that a very pleasant and valuable evening was the result of Mr. Kevan's visit. Jay LeFevre is to furnish the entertainment of the club at the next meeting, April 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Kuyper are now living at their newly purchased farm a Buttrick.

Mr. and Mrs. DuBois Grimm left April 7 for a cruise to the West Indies.

Miss Elaine Kniffen returned to New York University on Tuesday after spending her Easter vacation at home.

Frank D. Williams and his father, Dennis Williams, returned home Monday from Daytona Beach, Fla., where they have been since November 1. They stopped in Washington D. C., Easter Sunday to see the Japanese cherry blossoms in bloom around the United States Capitol.

Thin, Weak?

WHEN you feel out-of-sorts and your stomach gives trouble, with gas or acid indigestion, try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If you are weak and need to put on healthy flesh, you will find this a dependable vegetable tonic which increases the appetite and causes the flow of gastric juice. Mrs. M. J. 99 Potomac Ave., Buffalo, said: "I was very thin and as a result I had become nervous and was losing weight. I gently belched gas. Medical Discovery had me feeling better again. Each bottle that I used made me feel much stronger, stimulated my appetite and then I gained weight. Buy of your druggist now."

Daylight Saving Begins on April 30

New York, April 17 (AP)—Daylight saving time becomes effective generally at 2 a. m. Sunday, April 30, and will continue until Sunday, September 24, at 2 a. m.

Here are some of the high points, contained in the annual survey released today by the Merchants' Association of New York.

State-wide observance of the law in New Jersey, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island. Virtually state-wide observance in Connecticut. In New York state 352 cities and towns; in Pennsylvania 121. Most of Maine will be on daylight saving, as well as a substantial part of Vermont, and those sections of Indiana and Illinois in the vicinity of Chicago. Limited observance in Michigan, Idaho, Georgia and Delaware. Ohio will get the daylight saving advantages by putting most of state on eastern standard time.

There'll Be An Eclipse Of Sun Tomorrow But Only Californians Will Get Good View

By Howard W. Blakeslee
(Associated Press Science Editor)

New York—In California the color of the sunlight is likely to look slightly greenish around 8 a. m. on April 19 and the same thing will happen in Wisconsin about 10:30 a. m.

This will be about the only noticeable effect in the United States of an annular eclipse of the sun passing at those hours across Alaska and heading for the north pole. An annular ring-shaped eclipse is one in which the edges of the sun appear all around the moon's face.

In the United States only a partial eclipse will be seen and that only with dark glasses. In California half of the sun's diameter is to be obscured, but without glasses, it is unlikely that the moon's disc can be detected. The change in color of the sunlight, though, may be seen without glasses.

In Wisconsin two-fifths of the sun's diameter will be covered. Other predictions are Idaho three-fifths, Texas one-fifth, New York one-fifth, South Carolina seven per cent. The predicted hours of the partial eclipse are: Eastern standard, 11:00 a. m. to 1:00 p. m.; central standard, 9:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m.; Pacific standard 6:45 a. m. to 9:00 a. m.

Plaintiff Brings Testimony to End In Callanan Case

Testimony on behalf of the plaintiff, Peter J. Scheiber of South Rondout, was concluded Monday in county court. Andrew J. Cook for defendant, Callanan Road Improvement Company, moved for a dismissal of the complaint which was denied by Judge Traver and the defense then began introduction of testimony. Plaintiff claims that his residence property at South Rondout was badly damaged by heavy charges of explosives used at the Mingo Hollow quarry of the company. He alleges that walls and foundations were cracked and the premises damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars and cities in particular three blasts which were fired in August and November of 1937 and March of 1938.

Considerable Expert Testimony
There has been considerable expert testimony offered by John W. DeWitt, counsel for plaintiff who swore a large number of witnesses for the plaintiff, among them several property owners from the town of Esopus and adjacent sections who testified their property had been damaged by blasting operations and that walls had been cracked and their premises shaken by the blasts. B. C. Cabbage of Albany, an explosives expert employed by the du Pont concern, was called by the defense. He supervised the placing of the three blasts which are cited as having done much damage. In his opinion he said there was bound to be a certain amount of vibration in any operation of this kind but he denied that the operations at the Mingo Hollow quarry had been heavy enough to do any damage to adjacent properties.

Not Sufficient Strength
The charges set off in 1937 and 1938 he said were not of sufficient strength to do any considerable damage to the premises at South Rondout. He testified that he had made tests with a seismograph and found no evidence of vibration which would do appreciable damage.

On cross examination he admitted that a heavy charge of explosives would have a recoil like that of a gun held at the shoulder and this recoil would be transmitted through rock formation to points some distance away.

As to amounts of explosives used in the September 1937 blast he said about six and a half tons of explosive had been fired. In November of that year 10,500 pounds had been used and in the March 1938 blast nine and a half tons or 19,000 pounds of explosive had been used in the charges which were fired in deep drilled holes. The action is being watched with great interest by many people since on the determination of this case will hinge other actions of property owners who claim damage. The action is being brought under the theory of negligence.

Jones, Ketchuck Featured Friday On Boxing Card

The regular card of boxing bouts will be presented at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium on Friday, April 21. Metropolitan Aces will meet champions from Binghamton. In one of the five rounds, Charlie Ketchuck, Binghamton favorite will meet Henry Jones, one of George Gainsford's best boys. Ketchuck holds two decisions over Buddy Moore and has scored one win over Jones. He hopes to make it two on Friday night.

Henry Jones recently was a winner in New York's Madison Square Garden. He is a Metropolitan A.A.U. champion. On Friday, he will try to even the score between him and Charlie Ketchuck when they step into the local arena. This match should furnish plenty of action for the fans.

Another match on the card which is attracting a great deal of attention is that between Gene Pinter of Binghamton and Danny Cox of New York. Pinter fights hard and fast and is one of the gamest boys in the amateurs. Cox is a Metropolitan A.A.U. champ and is out to show Pinter that he is the best man. He has fought here on many occasions and is a favorite with many of the local fight fans.

Willie Smith, another of George Gainsford's aces will meet Pete Dubaldi of Newburgh. Smith was recently a winner in Madison Square Garden and also in a tournament in Chicago. He holds one decision over Carmine Patta, Newburgh's rugged little lightweight ace, who is now in the professional ranks. Dubaldi has fought here several times and always gives the crowd plenty of action and thrills.

The fans are looking forward to the return of Dutch Williams, Newburgh's K.O. puncher who will meet Bob Albino of Binghamton. Williams hopes to add another knockout to his already long list of kayos. He is always there to take everything his opponent can give and return it punch for punch.

Albino is a slugger from Binghamton and is ready to meet Williams on his own ground. He hopes to break Dutch's kayo record and will start when the gong sounds for the first round.

Jimmy (Windmill) Brown of New York will do battle with Johnny Andrews of Pittsburgh who is now fighting out of Albany. Brown recently lost an unpopular decision to Sergeant Charlie Perry in the local arena. Andrews is a hard puncher and never stops fighting until the last gong.

There will be two three rounders in the preliminaries featuring boys who like to fight.

Starting time will be at 9 o'clock.

The City League bowling teams closed their season last night with a deadlock for first place between the Downtown Merchants and the Y. M. C. A. The Y took three straight from Jack's Garage and the Merchants dropped a set to the Immanuel.

The playoff that will decide the champs will be held in the near future at the Immanuel at the convenience of the two teams and the total pins for three games will designate the victor.

The Y kepters won the three games from the Garagemen with-out much difficulty, being led by Randy Kelder, who rolled a series of 641. The Y team was aided greatly by Gil Sampson, who chalked up a total of 617.

The Downtown Merchants made a good start by taking the first two from the Immanuel but dropped the third with 824 against a 911 in the last game.

The Colonials rolled a 2986 against St. Peter's 2617 to win the second division title. Harold Broskie took the honors with a 232 single and a 622 triple.

First No-Hitter
Austin, Tex. (P)—Melvin Deutsch, University of Texas hurler, pitched a no-hit, no-run game recently against the Rice Owls. Uncle Billy Ditch, the coach who has been mentoring Texas teams for 23 years, can't recall that any of his other pitchers ever accomplished such a feat.

BILLY MYERS HIT BY BALL

The Cincinnati Reds' ball game with the Pittsburgh Pirates at the opening of the big league season proved doubly costly to the Reds. They lost the game, 7-5, and saw their shortstop, Billy Myers, knocked out by a ball thrown by Bill Brubaker in the second inning. Here Doc Rohde, (left) Reds' trainer, works over the unconscious Myers while worried Bill McKee, manager of the Reds, lends a helping hand.

Teams Sign Up for City Baseball Pennant Race

Grunenwalds, Jones Dairy, Closi A. C., Boiceville Cat and the Fiddle, Knights of Columbus, Hedricks and an entrant sponsoring Jack Dawkins, loom as the probable contestants in the 1939 Kingston City Baseball pennant race. With Ed Coughlin, vice president of the city loop, presiding at last night's initial twilight circuit conflag, a lively preliminary business session was conducted in the city hall court room.

Johnny Weiss and Bob Purvis were on hand for Grunies, with Johnny Berardi and George Zady representing Jones Dairy. Gus Steigerwald will represent the Closi A. C. banner again this season with a probable entries forthcoming from Lou Knapp's strong Boiceville tossers, Jack Haber's Cat and the Fiddle, Hedricks and the K. of C. Groundwork for the oncoming schedule was laid at last night's initial session with plenty of enthusiasm featuring the meeting.

Representatives and managers of teams contemplating entry in the City League are asked to be on hand for the next business session of the two-loop tossers slated for Monday, April 24, at 7:30 o'clock.

Unanimous approval of a full-time four-game-per-week slate was expressed with postponed games scheduled for reply on the first open date. Games will be carded for the Athletic Field commencing Tuesday and running through Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week. Postponed contests will be replayed the following Monday of each week. Twilight loop tilts will again be carded for the centrally-located Athletic Field as in former seasons.

Possibility of staging Sunday contests were discussed but the motion was tabled pending the return of President Joe Kelly from California.

Kyanize, winners of the '38 pennant did not enter the loop but a business combine backing Jack Dawkins is expected to place a formidable array on the field to replace the dismantled champions.

Fred Baumgarten, Hedrick Brewster's big chief, is not in the field this season, but a backer will be found for the team.

All Figured Out
Pittsburgh (P)—Lloyd Waner has it all figured out when he goes to bat how many points his batting average will rise if he gets a hit and how many points it will drop if he fails to connect.

Redeemers Take the First Game in Church Series From Comforters 47-31

Second Games in City Championship Tonight

Louis Wins by KO In First Round At Los Angeles

By ROBERT MYERS
Los Angeles, April 18 (P)—Joe Louis began packing up his belongings today to head east for his next odd job of defending the world's heavyweight championship.

Louis disposed of his California assignment last night in two minutes and 20 seconds by the clock, leaving a game but battered Jack Roper knocked out in his own corner.

Twenty-five thousand fans, eager for a thrill, got it in short dynamite doses. Roper, fulfilling a promise to trade punches with the deadly punching Louis, landed three vicious hooks to the head with his famed left. They weren't enough.

Louis, jolted by the first and stung by the other two, moved in for the kill. He got it, with a right smash to the head, followed by a left.

There were other blows before the knockout. Roper pawed desperately for another chance to drop his best punch on the Louis jaw.

Louis straightened the old warrior up with a left uppercut. It started him out. The two finishers completed the job, a clean knockout.

Battered to the canvas, Roper was trying to climb up the ropes before the end of the ten count. He didn't make it, and pitched over on his face after it had been completed by George V. Blake.

Wrigley Field, home of the Los Angeles baseball club and scene of the fight, was in an uproar. Old Man Roper had made the stand he had promised, and Louis, successfully defending his title for the sixth time since he won it from Jimmy Braddock, in 1937, was doing just what most everyone expected.

Louis readily gave praise to Roper's punching, and said he believed he would have less trouble with Tony Galento in New York this summer.

There were 25,000 in attendance and the receipts were around $100,000.

Louis weighed 201 1/2, Roper 204 1/2.

Planthaber Wins Pocket Billiard Match, 500 to 359

Fred Planthaber is still tops in pocket billiards in Kingston and surrounding territory. Last night at the Nick Kaslich parlors the final block in the 500 point challenge match between Planthaber and Julius Teller wound up with Planthaber in front for the four block contest by a score of 500 to 359.

Last night's match was the best to be played in this special challenge engagement with both champion and challenger clicking for a high run of 28 with several other runs of a rack and better making for a rapid fire affair that took no little time. Teller won last night's encounter 126 to 121 but it meant little in the final standing of 500 points, because, when they started that final block Freddie had a lead of 146 balls which was only cut by five with Teller's final block victory.

The "Y" court was the scene of great activity by 10 basketballers and ear-splitting noise by a large crowd of spectators as the Redeemers romped to an easy 47-31 victory over the Comforters in the opening game of the Church League playoff last night.

The Redeemers started the game in whirlwind fashion and piled up a 24-12 lead at half time, and came back to hold their adequate lead through the remainder of the game without any trouble at all. Pete "Rosebud" Schline holds the scoring honors for the night with 19 points to his credit. Pete seemed to be able to sink them from any angle and at any time last night. Al Bruce was next to Schline for the Redeemers with 9 and Jack Purvis and Chipe Rhymer were high for the Comforters with 8 each.

After watching the Redeemers march to such a decided win last night, general opinion believes that they will take next Monday's duel with the same ease and in doing so clinch the championship series. The game will be played on the Y. M. C. A. court.

The box score:

Gold Medal Teams Open Final Week Of Play Tonight

Chuck Henke's Gold Medal basketball tournament enters its final stages this week with three important clashes being scheduled. Tonight at 7 o'clock the first three games will be played by teams representing the winner's bracket.

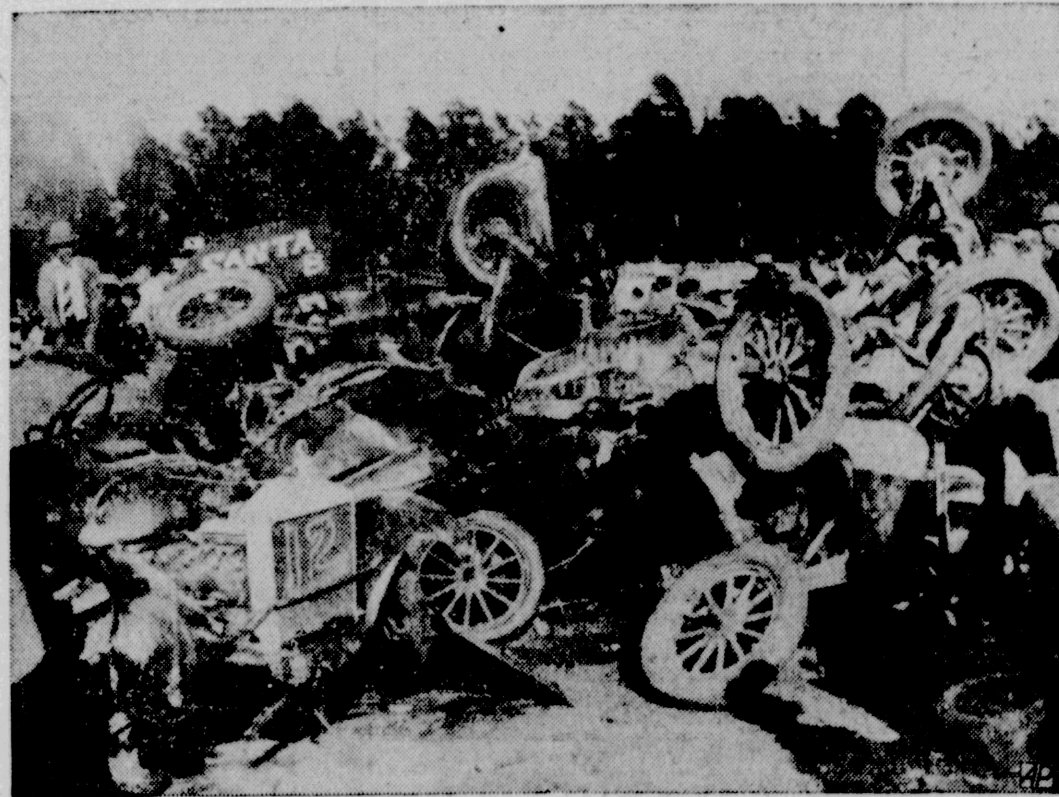

From tonight until Thursday the Y. M. C. A. will be the scene of warfare in the court sport. Then on Friday two playoff tussles will be staged to wind up the tournament and to determine the championship team.

The first clash tonight will bring together two local outfits—Kinney's and Baltz. In the second skirmish the Newburgh du Ponts and the Battery A soldiers will mix it up and the final match of the evening will bring together the Poughkeepsie Crusaders and the Catskill Fitzgeralds. The entire card may be looked upon as a series of toss-ups and should prove very interesting to the spectator.

The schedule for tonight will be: 7 o'clock—Kinney's vs. Baltz. 8 o'clock—Battery A vs. Newburgh. 9 o'clock—Crusaders vs. Fitzgeralds.

18 RACING "LIZZIES" PILE UP IN WEIRD CRASH

This was the general effect when 16 racing cars crashed at full speed into two others which had locked wheels on the 80th lap of a 100-mile race for "tin lizzies" at a Santa Rosa, Calif. fair grounds. Eight drivers were injured, two seriously, but no one was killed outright. After the wreckage had been cleared away, 15 remaining cars finished the race.

CLINCHING THE STANLEY CUP FOR BOSTON

Dr. J. Sutherland Resigns as Pitt Football Coach

Harrisburg, Pa., April 18 (P)—Dr. John B. Sutherland hung up today the moleskins he wore to groom gridiron greets and moved into a $4,200 state job.

The former University of Pittsburgh football coach decided in favor of his "first love"—dentistry—and accepted a position as Pennsylvania's director of dental hygiene.

Sutherland said he had "no intention" of coaching next fall and added he was through with football "for the time being, at least."

He resigned the Pitt job, which reputedly paid $13,000 annually, after a dispute over administration of athletic policies.

State Allocates Crossing Funds

He called attention to the fact that the plan called for the removal of the Wallkill Valley tracks from Greenkill avenue, making that street a 90-foot wide thoroughfare. To do this it would be necessary to take the former United States Hotel property on the corner of Broadway at Greenkill avenue.
Double Approval
The city engineer said that the plan would have to be approved both by the public service commission and the state highway department.
Legal Steps Taken
Corporation Counsel called attention to the plan in that it eliminated six grade crossings on the West Shore railroad and four on the former U. & D.
He recited briefly the steps that had already been taken by the city and that some five or six hearings had been held at which necessary data had been introduced by the city such as photographs of all of the grade crossings; sight distances furnished by the city engineer of all the crossings; also a traffic count over the different crossings.
Medical Note
Other evidence that had been introduced and was in the record was the fact that both hospitals were on one side of the railroad tracks and the majority of the doctors lived on the other side of the tracks; that there were firehouses on both sides of the tracks.
There were still three further steps, he said, that must be taken. The first was to obtain an estimate of the cost of the actual elimination. A firm was at work on this proposition and it was expected would be ready to submit an estimate within the next few weeks.
The second step was to obtain an estimate of the cost of relocating the sewer and water pipes that now pass under the present grade crossings. This cost was also now being estimated, and the figures would shortly be ready.
Cost of Properties
The third step was an estimate

HELD IN HATCHET ASSAULT

A policeman holds handcuffed Vivian Denton, 17, after his arrest in Chicago where two activities said he admitted striking Mrs. Met Christiansen, 77-year-old St. Charles, Ill., farm wife, with a hatchet. Mrs. Christiansen was seriously injured. Detective George Yunker said Denton told him he struck the woman after she had threatened to have him returned to a training school. He had been paroled to the victim's husband, Chris.

GOP Agrees Upon State Tax Plan

as "the only tax which the state could impose which will raise sufficient revenue for financing home relief in this emergency."
Imposing of any such tax for remittance to localities, they warned, however, "should be conditioned on three fundamental principles":
Cessation of all further borrowing, other than in anticipation of revenue, for home relief.
Vesting of maximum control, consistent with use of state moneys, in localities.
Constant pressure on localities to reduce relief costs.
While no reduction in the proposed $58,640,000 appropriation for reimbursement of 40 per cent of local relief expenditures was urged, a state-wide investigation of relief cost administration, was recommended to ascertain why the costs in New York state are "apparently higher than in any other state."

Chief budget reductions planned by Republicans would cut $10,244,635 from the $19,946,435 recommended for highway and other capital outlays and slash the $122,431,975 recommended for support of common schools $9,710,000.
Although shoring up general reduction of state salaries as potentially a "tremendous burden" with "unfortunate social and economic effects," the program urged decreases in certain salaries it termed "out of line."
Suspension of annual salary increases authorized by the 1937 Feld-Hamilton law providing for reclassification of civil service jobs was proposed except where workers receive less than the minimum, up to $3,500, fixed for their grade.
Salaries now above the "ceiling" fixed by the act would be decreased to that maximum.
Five to ten per cent reductions in operating expenditures of government agencies, except the division of the budget, were proposed to save $7,465,175. The program urged a $40,000 boost for the budget division for "increased work."
Recommended cuts in various divisions included—Traffic commission, $20,000; mortgage commission (to be abolished next September), from $300,000 to $75,000; state planning council, $49,000 to $25,000; power authority, $85,000 to $50,000; judicial council, $35,000 to $15,000; law revision commission, $83,280 to $40,000.
The program urges rejection of what it terms the governor's "foolish" suggestion that one per cent emergency income tax be made permanent. One leader also predicted Lehman's recommendation for "freezing" into the normal tax structure all such temporary levies would be defeated.

Several changes were proposed in the state's taxing policies which the majority leadership said are "driving certain forms of taxable wealth and capital out of the state."
"Not only does this increase the tax burden but the flight of capital and wealth has inevitably increased unemployment in this state," their statement said.
"Long-Range" Need
Viewing "imperative" the need for a "long-range attack on state and local financial difficulties," the leaders declared the "patchwork" approach of recent years has, in our opinion, aggravated seriously the fiscal problems of the state.
Suggested changes in "tax policy" included:
Calculation of the income tax on the "entire net income" with deductions of an amount equal to the tax at the lowest rate on the exemption, to obtain "uniformity" and a $10,000,000 revenue increase.
Revision in the capital gains and losses levy to include "qualification in the federal law," expected to bring a $4,000,000 revenue loss.
A two cent tax on bank checks to increase revenue $8,000,000.
Abolition of "double taxation" on odd lot transactions in the stock transfer tax for a $1,000,000 decrease.
Lowering of stock transfer tax rates for a $2,000,000 revenue loss.
Levying of a three cents per $100 bond transfer tax to increase yields $3,600,000.
Elimination of exemptions on motor fuel taxes to increase revenue $1,675,000.
Cancellation of refunds on surrendered liquor licenses for a $700,000 increase.
Abolition of the conservation fund and transfer of an unexpended balance, estimated at $800,000, to the general fund.
Repeal of regional park funds to prevent expenditure of $1,200,000.

of cost of properties that it would be necessary to take in order to place the plan in operation. Real estate experts were now busy preparing estimates of the costs, and would be ready to go on the witness stand and testify as to the cost of property that would be taken.
All of the costs, he said, would come out of the grade crossing funds, and the city would not have to pay a cent.
Telephone and gas and electric corporations who would have to make changes in their distribution lines by reason of depressing the tracks would also have to be compensated.
Will Ask for Date
When the estimates sought are ready, said Mr. Cashing, the city would ask the public service commission to fix a date for holding a public hearing at which time this data could be placed in evidence.
Mr. Cashing explained that before the public service commission announced any decision in the matter it would refer the plan and estimates to the state public works department who would carefully go over the plan and estimates and then return the plan and estimates with their findings to the public service commission.

He said that no one could say at this time what action the public service commission would take. They might and could revise the estimates and make changes in the plan; they might and could decide not to place the entire plan in operation.
If the state public service commission decided to go ahead with the elimination plan they would then call for construction bids.
"We don't expect that the public service commission will throw the plan out in its entirety," said Mr. Cashing.
To Interview Owners
He explained further that where private property would be taken representatives of the state public service commission would interview property owners, and try to reach an agreement on price. If the owner and state could not get together on the amount of damages the state department would then go to the attorney general and the state would take over the land needed.
The property owner, however, could then file a claim and seek redress in the Court of Claims.
Mayor Heiselman explained that while the original order called for the elimination of 10 grade crossings the present plan called for elimination of three additional crossings on the Wallkill Valley and three on the former U. & D. The three on the Wallkill were Sterling, Prospect and South Clinton avenue, and the three on the U. & D. were at Prince street, Foxhall avenue and East Chester street.
The mayor said that if the elimination project went through that it would mean work at good wages for 500 men for a two-year period.
As no one offered any opposition to the plan the mayor then adjourned the hearing.

Uptown Bull Market Fruit Department to Be Changed

Work of remodeling the fruit department of the Washington avenue Bull Market will be completed some time this week, it was announced today. Installation of new display stands, and other alterations have been worked out with the purpose of better and quicker service to the thousands of weekly patrons of the market. New display arrangements will also insure fresher, well-kept merchandise. Work of refinishing the large sign on the front of the Smith avenue Bull Market is under way, and will soon be completed with the addition of a large cut-out bull's head.

Dartball Games Played

Glenford Men's Club entertained the Fair Street Reformed Church club Monday evening with a post-season dartball contest, an entertainment which included real "mountain music" by the Glenford trio and also vocal selections in which the gathering joined. Fair Street won the opening game and as a novelty a "left handed" game was played with Joseph Turner making the lone score of the game, a home run. After sumptuous refreshments had been served the Glenford team defeated the Fair Street team in a final game.

Is It an Omen?

Atlanta, April 18 (AP)—The night before Charlie Yates left Atlanta for England on his successful campaign to gain the British amateur golf championship last year he drove his automobile across a red traffic signal. A traffic officer caught him, gave him a ticket. Last night, Yates, who departs today to defend his title, ran under another red traffic signal. He got another ticket. "I hope," he said, pocketing the summons, "it brings me the same good luck as the other one."

Plans Completed For Home Bureau District Conclave

Members of the Ulster County Home Bureau Executive Committee met on Monday with state representatives in the Kingston office to plan a program for the Eastern District Federation of Home Bureaus to be held in Kingston on May 3 and 4.

Included in the program will be talks by Dr. Ruth Green Smith, state leader of home demonstration work from the state college, Ithaca, and a talk on cancer by Dr. Elizabeth Parsons of Kingston.

The delegates will stop at the Governor Clinton Hotel, N.Y.C.A. and tourists home in Kingston. On the evening of May 3 a banquet will be held in the hotel, with a program planned that will close with a number of dances by the Woodstock Chautauque and Swings square dance group.

The final day of the federation meeting will be spent in luncheon at Mt. Marion, attending a talk at the studio of Thomas Penning of High Woods, ending with tea and an art exhibition in the Woodstock Art Gallery.

Since the federation has a membership of nearly 100 the two-day convention is expected to be well attended and orderly plans have been made to arrange for transportation, accommodations and entertainment of a large group.

Tolerance Group Plans Meeting

A local movement to spread the spirit of tolerance, which gained momentum at a recent meeting of an interested group, will be furthered soon at a meeting of a recently named committee at the office of Cashin & Ewig.

It is one aim of the group to stem the tide of unfavorable propaganda against Jews in America. They will work also to expose religious and racial discrimination.

The committee is non-sectarian and will align itself against all forms of intolerance and counteract the insidious literature of propaganda now disseminated.

Those on the committee are: The Rev. Russell Jaenzle the Rev. William J. McVe, Rabb Herbert I. Bloom, John W. Casin, Andrew J. Cook, Joseph M. Fowler, Arthur B. Ewig.

Kiwanis to Hear Lithgow Osborne

Lithgow Osborne

The weekly meeting of Kingston Kiwanis Club, Thursday noon, will be a sort of "Ulster County Day," as representatives of some 30 organizations throughout the county are expected to be guests of the service club here on that day.

The occasion will be a visit by Conservation Commissioner Lithgow Osborne, who will be the guest speaker and who will address the Kiwanians and their guests on the subject of "State and Regional Publicity."

As head of the Conservation Department, Mr. Osborne is also head of the State Publicity Bureau, which has been made a division of the department, and his talk Thursday will be on publicity lines.

Commissioner Osborne will outline some of the things that have been accomplished in publicizing the attractions of different areas or regions in the state and will also refer to some things that have been done on that line in other states.

President E. M. Huben, of the Kiwanis, says that they have endeavored to secure an attendance of representatives from all organizations in the city and county that are in any way connected with, or interested in promotional activities. It is felt that they will be given some valuable hints as to what their local bodies can do towards popularizing Ulster county, the thought being that what helps the county as a whole will help the various areas and communities of the county.

It is expected that during the course of his talk Commissioner Osborne will tell something of the outstanding work that has been done toward popularizing and advertising the Finger Lakes region of Central New York.

Chairman Says NLRB is Fair

"the original enactment of the law, who have never become reconciled to the liberties which it confers upon American workmen and who now urge Congress to take away those liberties."

He said that Burke's proposal "would make of working people and their unions a caste of legal pariahs and untouchables, outlawed by the federal government upon the slightest deviation from the requirements of the most reactionary or absurd village ordinance, or the terms of an injunction granted by any labor-baiting judge, local, state or federal."

"Serious Charges"
Madden also said that Burke "has made serious public charges against the administration of the act several times since (its passage) without any respectable evidence to sustain the charges, and has been generally unfriendly to the beneficent purposes of the law."

Madden said the AFL bill never would have been proposed had it not been for the split between the Federation and the CIO.

Group to Give Minstrel Show

A "Battle of the Sexes" and "Uncle Sam's Question Bee," will be two modern features of the third annual minstrel show of the Men's Club of the Fair Street Church which will be held at the church auditorium on Friday evening, April 21, at 8 o'clock. In addition there will be the usual minstrel show musical numbers, local "star" end men and solo and quartet numbers which will include local songsters of note.

William Murray will be interlocutor and the troupe is being coached by Harold Clayton. As usual ice cream and cake will be on sale.

Machine Winks, Sour Notes End

Blinking Gadget Warns Opera Singers When Out of Tune

NEW YORK.—A new machine that winks at prima donnas of the Metropolitan Opera company is making life easier for the orchestra. The winker, capable of 32 to 4,070 blinks a second, is a chromatic stroboscope, a new musical pitch monitor, each of whose winks represent a single beat of a musical note.

The orchestra's tribulations come from the fact that in each pure musical note, whether of a soprano voice, or other musical source, there is a slight margin, a few vibrations, by which the tone can depart from standard and still be beautiful. This departure most commonly occurs in high-pitched feminine voices, thus when the singer is voicing the F above high C, represented by 1,387 vibrations a second, she may go as high as 1,425.

Orchestra Strains.
The result is that to the prima donna's ear the orchestra is off key, while to the players the singer seems off. Since the orchestra is the accompanist, it strains to follow the prima donna.

With the new winker, the singer can see the exact number of vibrations of her voice. The orchestra can see its tones and those that harmonize best can be practiced. The winker counts the number of vibrations per second of a musical note. The counting is done by a stroboscope, a wheel with spokes, which whirls in front of the flashing light.

The spokes cast a jumble of shadows, which seem to stand still whenever the wheel is turning at the precise speed needed to cast as many shadows a second as there are flashes of the lamp.

Works for Any Note

Thus the wheel can be set for any note. If it is set for 1,400 vibrations a second, the shadows will stand still when the singer's voice is making exactly 1,400 vibrations. If she goes above, the shadows will move. The winker comes from Elkhart, Ind., where it was developed by C. G. Conn, Ltd., to tune wind instruments. It solved the problem of "lips that lie when lipping."

"Lipping" is the blowing of a wind instrument. The lips help produce the perfect tone.

Woman Has New Process For Steel Manufacture

CLEVELAND, OHIO.—Lena Burrows, who calls herself a "kitchen chemist," has spent 10 years in her laboratory, and claims now to have perfected a new process for producing steel, and a method of treating low grade ore to make it profitable.

"I have found a way to smelt iron ore into steel in one operation by using hydrogen as a reducing agent," she said, "and in this way eliminate the blast-furnace operation. This effects a saving of $3 per ton in the finished product."

By treating gold ore with the same apparatus, the woman scientist has been able to accomplish surprising results by reducing successfully and cheaply, ores which previously had been too low-grade to justify reduction.

"But the astonishing thing," she said, "is that the process seems to transmute some of the baser metals in the ore into gold."

Miss Burrows' father was a well-known metallurgist and geologist. It was from him that she learned chemistry.

There's Gold in Smoke; Ore Mills Will Catch It

COLORADO, COLO.—A smoke-stack sifter with a gunnysack could make $100 a day at the Golden Cycle mill.

Casual observers noticing the clouds of smoke pouring from smokestacks of the mining company's ore-processing mill here would find it hard to believe that those clouds of smoke are carrying a daily average of $100 in gold dust out of sight.

Golden Cycle engineers, who have been making a test of the gold content of the smoke, said dust-catchers would be installed soon on the smokestacks, stopping release of the valuable particles.

A similar situation was overcome recently in the melting room of the smelter, where several tons of gold-bearing escaping dust have been reclaimed.

who supervised the three blasts at the quarry in 1937 and 1938, testified that he had endeavored to make a record of the earth movement at the Schreiber place on March 18, 1938, but had not set up his instruments complete when the blast went off. Mr. Schreiber had delayed the operation by not desiring to give his consent. The instrument was set up on the walk just as the blast was fired and one of the pins fell, the pin being the one which would respond to the least tremor. Other pins did not fall.

Supervised Operation

He said he supervised the operation on November 18, 1937, when over five tons of explosive had disintegrated 42,000 tons of rock. He also loaded the blast for March 18, 1938, when 9½ tons were exploded. In his experience he had loaded 24 tons in a blast at South Bethlehem for the Callan people and no damage had resulted. The rock at Mingo Hollow was about the same, slightly harder.

In reply to a question by the court the witness said smaller charges of dynamite would be less effective and would be more expensive. He said there would be less vibration to the surrounding territory but such operation would delay operations at the quarry. The larger charges was the more practical operation.

Barab Testifies

Jacob Barab of Wilmington, Del., who loaded and fired the shots last Thursday at 5:05 in the afternoon, said he considered the two shots fired in holes 153 and 157 feet deep could do no damage. The shots displaced 30,000 tons of rock.

Experts said 20,000 to 30,000 pounds of explosive could be used in the quarry without damage to property.

G. Wallace Codwise testified the distance to the quarry from the Schreiber house was 4,300 feet. Another explosive expert, Mr. Russell from Wilmington, Del., with du Pont for 32 years said he had looked over the Mingo Hollow quarry in 1937 before it was opened up. He said he had shot 30 to 40 tons of explosives within 1,500 feet of structures without damage. In his opinion the charge could not damage property in South Rondout.

Explains Vibrations

Prof. Leet explained how vibration waves travel over the surface of the earth in waves about 500 feet wide much as waves go in water. The waves are less, deep down in the earth. On each wave structures moved with the earth and little damage is done. However, although he said there was a tendency for walls to crack if sufficient energy was exerted and there was a tendency of structures such as chimneys to "fight against" the frame work of a house and give evidence of this by cracks or abrasions. He cited his experience in Japan in 1923 and of his investigation of explosive results in this country. He is author of a book on the matter.

Tunnels under ground move without damage with the earth shock, plaster on walls in houses on the surface may crack if the push and pull is sufficient but he said there would be two way cracks, one when the push comes and one when the pull results. In the Schreiber house there was no evidence of two lines of cracks and he said the damage was due to settling. This was true of the cellar bottom, the foundation wall and the plaster walls. It was expansion and contraction which caused the foundation to crack.

Last Thursday he said he sat upon the ground near his instrument when the blast was fired and he felt the tremor very distinctly but the earth moved about 1-100 of an inch and not sufficient to damage any structure. A movement of 40-100 of an inch would be required to damage new plaster and old plaster would stand more movement.

The case will be continued today. At noon recess A. J. Cook still was presenting his side of the case with John W. DeWitt cross-examining witnesses.

By Lydia Gray Shaw

1. Pretty snappy outfit, isn't it? I think so myself. I'm pretty proud of my fuzzy sweater and my blue blanket. And my shiny new harness, too. Mother just got that for me 'cause I'm getting big enough to be frisky. She doesn't want me to fall out of the carriage, so she straps me to the sides. Says when I'm big enough to walk, she'll tie a lead rein to it, and let me totter down the street.

2. Here comes Mother now, ready to take me for my ride. We go out every day this time, when the sun is warm, and I can get a little sun tan. Mother gets her exercise pushing me down to the store, and I wait for her outside in the carriage in the sun. I've had sun baths since I was two weeks old. Just face and hands in the winter, but all over in the summer. That's why I'm so healthy and brown.

3. My, do I like to bounce along! The carriage is nice and springy, and even though I've grown fast, it's still big enough for me. I can lie down for my nap without having my toes crowded. Pretty soon though, I'll have to use the carriage just for sit-up rides. Mother doesn't want me to be cramped when I sleep. My, the air smells good. I'm certainly going to have a great big appetite when I get home.

16,000 Workers Busy At World's Fair Site

New York, April 18 (AP).—

With the formal opening of the New York World's Fair only 12 days away, a staff of 16,000 workmen today was busy rushing the $155,000,000 enterprise toward completion.

The payroll for those employed on the 1,216-acre tract last week was reported above $900,000.

The statistical minions of Grover A. Whalen, the fair's president, estimated 25,000 persons would be employed next week in last-minute painting, landscaping, cleaning work and installation of exhibits.

They believed 50,000 will be employed by the fair's management, its exhibitors and concessionaires during the summer.

Most outdoor construction work has been completed except in the "play center," where more than 100 rides, shows, amusement projects and eating places are being set up at top speed.

"Bury You in Yard"

Richard Banks, 24, of 5 Dunne street, was arrested this morning on a boat in the Rondout creek on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Catherine Fox, an elderly woman. Mrs. Fox in the information she swore to at the time the warrant was issued alleged that late Sunday afternoon Banks had appeared at her house and kicked and banged on the front door, shouting "I'll kill you. I'll throw you through the building and bury you in the yard," and other language that was both indecent and profane.

When Banks was arraigned in police court he told the judge he wanted to retain a lawyer, and the judge adjourned the hearing until Wednesday morning and fixed bail in the sum of $200.

Peter Dugan, a house painter of this city, was fined $5 for intoxication on Abruy street, on Monday morning.

Driver Is Fined

John W. Boyce of Poughkeepsie, who was arrested Sunday night at Highland and charged with driving while intoxicated, was arraigned Monday before Justice U. Parker Decker of Highland. The charge against Boyce was changed to that of reckless driving and a fine of $5 was imposed. Boyce paid the fine and was discharged.

Thin, Weak?

WHEN you feel out-of-sorts and your stomach gives trouble, with gas or acid indigestion, try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If you are weak and need to put on healthy flesh, you will find this a dependable vegetable which increases the appetite and causes the flow of gastric juice. Mrs. M. J. Potomac Ave., Buffalo, said: "I was very little and as a result I had become thin and nervous and was losing weight. I was unable to eat. Medical Discovery had me feeling better again. Each box that I used made me feel much stronger, stimulated my appetite and then I gained weight." Buy of your druggist now!

Merchants and Y. M. C. A. Are Deadlocked for First Place in the City League

JUST BEFORE THE BATTLE

Joe Louis (right) and Challenger Jack Roper, who is beginning to look aged, square off in the office of the California state athletic commission, as they weighed in for their heavyweight title bout in Los Angeles. Louis made 201 1/2 pounds and Roper 204 1/2.

Jones, Ketchuck Featured Friday On Boxing Card

The regular card of boxing bouts will be presented at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium on Friday, April 21. Metropolitan aces will meet champions from Binghamton. In one of the five rounds, Charlie Ketchuck, Binghamton favorite will meet Henry Jones, one of George Gainsford's best boys. Ketchuck holds two decisions over Buddy Moore and has scored one win over Jones. He hopes to make it two on Friday night.

Henry Jones recently was a winner in New York's Madison Square Garden. He is a Metropolitan A.A.U. champion. On Friday, he will try to even the score between him and Charlie Ketchuck when they step into the local arena. This match should furnish plenty of action for the fans.

Another match on the card which is attracting a great deal of attention is that between Gene Pinter of Binghamton and Danny Cox of New York. Pinter fights hard and fast and is one of the gamiest boys in the amateurs. Cox is a Metropolitan A.A.U. champ and is out to show Pinter that he is the best man. He has fought here on many occasions and is a favorite with many of the local fight fans.

Willie Smith, another of George Gainsford's aces will meet Pete

The City League bowling teams closed their season last night with a deadlock for first place between the Downtown Merchants and the Y. M. C. A. The Y took three straight from Jack's Garage and the Merchants dropped a set to the Immanuel.

The playoff that will decide the champs will be held in the near future at the Immanuel at the convenience of the two teams and the total pins for three games will designate the victor.

The Y. M. C. A. won the three games from the Garagemen without much difficulty, being led by Randy Kelder, who rolled a series of 641. The Y team was aided greatly by Gil Sampson, who chalked up a total of 617.

The Downtown Merchants made a good start by taking the first two from the Immanuel but dropped the third with 824 against a 911 in the last game.

The Colonials rolled a 2966 against St. Peter's 2617 to win the second division title. Harold Broskie took the honors with a 232 single and a 622 triple.

First No-Hitter

Austin, Tex. (AP)—Melvin Deutsch, University of Texas hurler, pitched a no-hit, no-run game recently against the Rice Owls. Uncle Billy Ditch, the coach who has been mentoring Texas teams for 23 years, can't recall that any of his other pitchers ever accomplished such a feat.

BILLY MYERS HIT BY BALL

The Cincinnati Reds' ball game with the Pittsburgh Pirates at the opening of the big league season proved doubly costly to the Reds. They lost the game, 7-5, and saw their shortstop, Billy Myers, knocked out by a ball thrown by Bill Brubaker in the second inning. Here Doc Rohde, (left) Reds' trainer, works over the unconscious Myers while worried Bill McKechnie, manager of the Reds, lends a helping hand.

Teams Sign Up for City Baseball Pennant Race

Grunenwalds, Jones Dairy, Closi A. C., Boiceville Cat and the Fiddle, Knights of Columbus, Hedricks and an entrant sponsoring Jack Dawkins, loom as the probable contestants in the 1939 Kingston City Baseball pennant race. With Ed Coughlin, vice president of the city loop, presiding at last night's initial twilight circuit conflagration, a lively preliminary business session was conducted in the city hall court room.

Johnny Weiss and Bob Purvis were on hand for Grunewalds, with Johnny Berardi and George Zardani representing Jones Dairy. Gus Steigerwald will represent the Closi A. C. banner again this season with probable entries forthcoming from Lou Knapp's strong Boiceville tossers, Jack Haber's Cat and the Fiddle, Hedricks and the K. of C. Groundwork for the oncoming schedule was laid at last night's initial session with plenty of enthusiasm featuring the meeting.

Representatives and managers of teams contemplating entry in the City League are asked to be on hand for the next business session of the two-loop tossers slated for Monday, April 24, at 7:30 o'clock.

Second Games in City Championship Tonight

The second games in the City Basketball League championship series are scheduled for tonight at the Municipal Auditorium. The Boston Cleaners will line up against the powerful Uptown Merchant quintet in the first contest tonight which will start at 8 o'clock for the American Division title. The Barmann Brewers will meet Baltz's at 9 o'clock in the National Division play-off.

There will undoubtedly be plenty of stiff competition in both of tonight's games, with the Cleaners and Brewers, each trying for a leg in the three-game series.

In the initial games of the series last Tuesday night, the Merchants, second half winners in the American Division, handed the Boston Cleaners, first half champs, an overwhelming setback. George Silverberg, Cleaner mainstay, was removed from the contest at the end of the first period on personals, and may have been out for some extent for the failure of the Cleaner quintet to function up to expectations.

The Boston Cleaners have been toned throughout the season for their smooth passing and set-up plays. If their combination clicks tonight the Merchants may find the tables turned, notwithstanding the high scoring power of the Uptown lads.

Baltz's continued to hold the jinx over the touted Barmann Brewers. The latter have encountered plenty of trouble in every contest with the Pajama boys, although the Leonard were the only other quintet to hold a win over the Brewers throughout the season. Baltz's have turned them back three times out of the four meetings.

Last week's game was marked by an unusual amount of fouling, and resulted in the eviction of four men from the lineups of both teams before the contest was concluded.

With the Merchants and Baltz's each holding a game lead in the series, a win tonight for either of these quintets will give them their division championship, since the series is on a two out of three basis.

All Figured Out

Pittsburgh (AP)—Lloyd Waner has it all figured out when he goes to bat how many points his batting average will rise if he gets a hit and how many points it will drop if he fails to connect.

18 RACING "LIZZIES" PILE UP IN WEIRD CRASH

This was the general effect when 18 racing cars crashed at full speed into two others which had locked wheels on the 80th lap of a 100-mile race for "tin lizzies" at a Santa Rosa, Calif., fair grounds. Eight drivers were injured, two seriously, but no one was killed outright. After the wreckage had been cleared away, 15 remaining cars finished the race.

CLINCHING THE STANLEY CUP FOR BOSTON

Louis Wins by KO In First Round At Los Angeles

By ROBERT MYERS

Los Angeles, April 18 (AP)—Joe Louis began packing up his belongings today to head east for his next odd job of defending the world's heavyweight championship.

Louis disposed of his California assignment last night in two minutes and 20 seconds by the clock, leaving a game but battered Jack Roper knocked out in his own corner.

Twenty-five thousand fans eager for a thrill, got it in short, dynamite doses. Roper, fulfilling a promise to trade punches with the deadly punching Louis, landed three vicious hooks to the head with his famed left. They weren't enough.

Louis, jolted by the first and stung by the other two, moved in for the kill. He got it, with a right smash to the head, followed by a left.

There were other blows before the knockout. Roper panted desperately for another chance to drop his best punch on the Louis jaw. Louis straightened the old variation up with a left uppercut. It started him out. The two finishers completed the job, a clean knockout.

Battered to the canvas, Roper was trying to climb up the ropes before the end of the ten count. He didn't make it, and pitched over on his face after it had been completed by George V. Blake.

Wrigley Field, home of the Los Angeles baseball club and scene of the fight, was in an uproar. Old Man Roper had made the stand he had promised, and Louis, successfully defending his title for the sixth time since he won it from Jimmy Braddock in 1937, was doing just what most everyone expected.

Louis readily gave praise to Roper's punching, and said he believed he would have less trouble with Tony Galento in New York this summer.

There were 25,000 in attendance and gate receipts were around $100,000.

Louis weighed 201 1/2, Roper 204 1/2.

Planthaber Wins

Pocket Billiard Match, 500 to 359

Fred Planthaber is still tops in pocket billiards in Kingston and surrounding territory. Last night at the Nick Kaslich parlors the final block in the 500 point challenge match between Planthaber and Julius Teller wound up with Planthaber in front for the four block contest by a score of 500 to 359.

Last night's match was the best to be played in this special challenge engagement with both champion and challenger clicking for a high run of 28 with several other runs of a rack and better making for a rapid fire affair that took no little time. Teller won last night's encounter 126 to 121 but it meant little in the final standing of 500 points, because, when they started that final block Freddie had a lead of 146 balls which was only cut by five with Teller's final block victory.

The schedule for tonight will be: 7 o'clock—Kinney's vs. Baltz. 8 o'clock—Battery A vs. Newburgh. 9 o'clock—Crusaders vs. Fitzgeralds.

Colonials, Jewels Duel At Auditorium Wednesday

A record crowd is anticipated tomorrow evening at the municipal auditorium when the New York Jewels meet the Kingston Colonials in an exhibition battle sponsored by the Kingston Hotel and Restaurant Men's Association.

The Jewels, who won the President's Cup, will bring their regular lineup, including Pelington, Spindell, Kinsbrunner, "Honey" Russell, Kuperberg, Rubenstein, Slott and Rip Gerson.

The Colonials will be represented by their regular team and will be prepared to put on one of the liveliest matches witnessed on a local court. The local club, who won all the scheduled set of games, are in better form than ever and although the season is practically over this match has attracted widespread attention.

Proceeds from tomorrow's game will be used to erect signs to advertise Kingston.

Dr. J. Sutherland Resigns as Pitt Football Coach

Harrisburg, Pa., April 18 (AP)—Dr. John B. Sutherland hung up today the moleskins he wore to groom gridiron greets and moved into a $4,200 state job.

The former University of Pittsburgh football coach decided in favor of his "first love"—dentistry—and accepted a position as Pennsylvania's director of dental hygiene.

Sutherland said he had "no intention" of coaching next fall and added he was through with football "for the time being, at least."

He resigned the Pitt job, which reportedly paid $13,000 annually, after a dispute over administration of athletic policies.

State Allocates Crossing Funds

He called attention to the fact that the plan called for the removal of the Wallkill Valley tracks from Greenkill avenue, making that street a 90-foot wide thoroughfare. To do this it would be necessary to take the former United States hotel property on the corner of Broadway at Greenkill avenue.

Double Approval
The city engineer said that the plan would have to be approved both by the public service commission and the state highway department.

Legal Steps Taken
Corporation Counsel called attention to the plan in that it eliminated six grade crossings on the West Shore railroad and four on the former U. & D.

He recited briefly the steps that had already been taken by the city and that some five or six hearings had been held at which necessary data had been introduced by the city such as photographs of all of the grade crossings, sight distances furnished by the city engineer of all the crossings, also a traffic count over the different crossings.

Medical Note
Other evidence that had been introduced and was in the record was the fact that both hospitals were on one side of the railroad tracks and the majority of the doctors lived on the other side of the tracks, that there were firehouses on both sides of the crossings. There were still three further steps, he said, that must be taken. The first was to obtain an estimate of the cost of the actual elimination. A firm was at work on this proposition and it was expected would be ready to submit an estimate within the next few weeks.

The second step was to obtain an estimate of the cost of relocating the sewer and water pipes that now pass under the present grade crossings. This cost was also now being estimated, and the figures would shortly be ready.

Cost of Properties
The third step was an estimate

HELD IN HATCHET ASSAULT

A policeman holds handcuffed Vivian Denton, 17, after his arrest in Chicago where two detectives said he admitted striking Mrs. Meta Christiansen, 77-year-old St. Charles, Ill., farm wife, with a hatchet. Mrs. Christiansen was seriously injured. Detective George Yunker said Denton told him he struck the woman after she had threatened to have him returned to a training school. He had been paroled to the victim's husband, Chris.

of cost of properties that it would be necessary to take in order to place the plan in operation. Real estate experts were now busy preparing estimates of the costs, and would be ready to go on the witness stand and testify as to the cost of property that would be taken.

All of the costs, he said, would come out of the grade crossing funds, and the city would not have to pay a cent.

Telephone and gas and electric corporations who would have to make changes in their distribution lines by reason of depressing the tracks would also have to be compensated.

Will Ask for Date

When the estimates sought are ready, said Mr. Cashin, the city would ask the public service commission to fix a date for holding a public hearing at which time the data could be placed in evidence. Mr. Cashin explained that before the public service commission announced any decision in the matter it would refer the plan and estimates to the state public works department who would carefully go over the plan and estimates and then return the plan to the public service commission.

He said that no one could say at this time what action the public service commission would take. They might and could revise the estimates and make changes in the plan; they might and could decide not to place the entire plan in operation.

If the state public service commission decided to go ahead with the elimination plan they would then call for construction bids.

"We don't expect that the public service commission will throw the plan out in its entirety," said Mr. Cashin.

To Interview Owners

He explained further that where private property would be taken representatives of the state public service commission would interview property owners and try to reach an agreement on price. If the owner and state could not get together on the amount of damages the state department would then go to the attorney general and the state would take over the land needed.

The property owner, however, could then file a claim and seek redress in the Court of Claims.

Mayor Heitsman explained that while the original order called for the elimination of 10 grade crossings the present plan called for elimination of three additional crossings on the Wallkill Valley and three on the former U. & D. The three on the Wallkill were Sterling, Prospect and South Clinton avenue, and the three on the U. & D. were at Prince street, Foxhall avenue and East Chester street.

The mayor said that if the elimination project went through that it would mean work at good wages for 500 men for a two-year period.

As no one offered any opposition to the plan the mayor then adjourned the hearing.

Uptown Bull Market Fruit Department to Be Changed

Work of remodeling the fruit department of the Washington avenue Bull Market will be completed some time this week, it was announced today. Installation of new display stands, and other alterations have been worked out with the purpose of better and quicker service to the thousands of weekly patrons of the market. New display arrangements will also insure fresher, well-kept merchandise. Work of refinishing the large sign on the front of the Smith avenue Bull Market is under way, and will soon be completed with the addition of a large cut-out bull's head.

Dartball Games Played

Glenford Men's Club entertained the Fair Street Reformed Church club Monday evening with a post-season dartball contest, an entertainment which included real "mountain music" by the Glenford trio and also vocal selections in which the gathering joined. Fair Street won the opening game and as a novelty a "left handed" game was played with Joseph Turner making the lone score of the game, a home run. After sumptuous refreshments had been served the Glenford team defeated the Fair Street team in a final game.

Is It an Omen?

Atlanta, April 18 (AP)—The night before Charlie Yates left Atlanta for England on his successful campaign to gain the British amateur golf championship last year he drove his automobile across a red traffic signal. A traffic officer caught him, gave him a ticket. Last night Yates, who departs today to defend his title, ran under another red traffic signal. He got another ticket. "I hope," he said, pocketing the summons, "it brings me the same good luck as the other one."

GOP Agrees Upon State Tax Plan

as "the only tax which the state could impose which will raise sufficient revenue for financing home relief in this emergency."

Imposing of any such tax for remittance to localities they warned, however, "should be conditioned on three fundamental principles":

Cessation of all further borrowing, other than in anticipation of revenue, for home relief.

Vesting of maximum control, consistent with use of state moneys, in localities.

Constant pressure on localities to reduce relief costs.

While no reduction in the proposed $58,640,000 appropriation for reimbursement of 40 per cent of local relief expenditures was urged, a state-wide investigation of relief cost administration, was recommended to ascertain why the costs in New York state are "apparently higher than in any other state."

Chief budget reductions planned by Republicans would cut $10,244,635 from the $19,946,435 recommended for highway and other capital outlays and slash the $22,431,975 recommended for support of common schools.

Although shelling from general reduction of state salaries as potentially a "tremendous burden" with "unfortunate social and economic effects," the program urged decreases in certain salaries it termed "out of line."

Suspension of annual salary increases authorized by the 1937 Field-Hamilton law providing for reclassification of civil service jobs was proposed except where workers receive less than the minimum, up to $3,500, fixed for their grade.

Salaries now above the "ceiling" fixed by the act would be decreased to that maximum.

Five to ten per cent reductions in operating expenditures of government agencies, except the division of the budget, were proposed to save $7,463,175. The program urged a $40,000 boost for the budget division for "increased work."

Recommended cuts in various divisions included—traffic commission, $20,000; mortgage commission (to be abolished next September), from $300,000 to $75,000; state planning council, $49,000 to $25,000; power authority, $85,000 to $50,000; judicial council, $35,000 to $15,000; law revision commission, $83,280 to $40,000.

The program urges rejection of what it terms the governor's "foolish" suggestion that one per cent emergency income tax be made permanent. One leader also predicted "freezing" into the normal tax structure all such temporary levies would be defeated.

Several changes were proposed in the state's taxing policies which the majority leadership said are "driving certain forms of taxable wealth and capital out of the state."

"Not only does this increase the tax burden but the flight of capital and wealth has inevitably increased unemployment in this state," their statement said.

"Long-Range" Need

Viewing "imperative" the need for a "long-range attack on state and local financial difficulties," the leaders declared the "patchwork" approach of recent years has, in our opinion, aggravated seriously the fiscal problems of the state.

Suggested changes in "tax policy" included:

Calculation of the income tax on the "entire net income" with deductions of an amount equal to the tax at the lowest rate on the exemption, to obtain "uniformity" and a $10,000,000 revenue increase.

Revision in the capital gains and losses levy to include "qualification in the federal law," expected to bring a $4,000,000 revenue loss.

A two cent tax on bank checks to increase revenue $8,000,000.

Abolition of "double taxation" on odd lot transactions in the stock transfer tax for a $1,000,000 decrease.

Lowering of stock transfer tax rates for a $2,000,000 revenue loss.

Levying of a three cents per $100 bond transfer tax to increase yields $3,600,000.

Elimination of exemptions on motor fuel taxes to increase revenue $1,675,000.

Cancellation of refunds on surrendered liquor licenses for a $700,000 increase.

Abolition of the conservation fund and transfer of an unexpended balance, estimated at $800,000, to the general fund.

Repeal of regional park funds to prevent expenditure of $1,200,000.
